REDS HOLD POWER IN PARLEY

Third Party Leaders Open Session to Nominate Senator LaFollette

FARMERS LATE IN REACHING ST. PAUL

Keynote Speaker Sees a Chance to Bring Chaos In Leading Parties

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

MINN., June 17.—The first official step for organization of a national Farmer-Labor "third party" to represent the cause of the farmer and the worker in the coming Presidential campaign was taken here today.

The convention, which is to endorse Senator Robert L. LaFollette for President, was officially organized in its opening session and began work of setting up a national organization.

The first meeting was devoted exclusively to organization details and the keynote speech of William Mahoney, secretary of the Minnesota Farm-Labor party.

300 Delegates Present.

Adjournment was taken until later in the day to enable the credentials committee to complete its task of seating some 300 of the delegates present.

Communists made themselves heard only in cheering at the first session.

There were large patches of vacant seats in the theater. Many states had failed to send representatives. It had been expected about 1000 delegates would attend.

Digressing from his set speech, Mahoney once referred to La Follette as a "club" by which the convention could strike to injure the two major political parties.

A bloc of ten delegates—which Senator Robert LaFollette claims represent the Moscow International—jammed the plans of organizers of the convention early in the opening session, organization being held at a complete standstill until enough Farmer-Labor voters could be mustered to overcome the opposition.

Farmer Delegates Late.

Just before the opening session got under way, Mahoney came over to the press tables and denied that the Communists would dominate the convention.

"Our farmer votes are coming in fast and the farmers will be in a big majority," he said. "The convention came just at harvest time and we have had a hard time getting them in."

In one breath criticizing La Follette for his attack upon the Communist elements in the convention, Mahoney in the next breath pointed to him as the logical man to unite the dissatisfied forces of the nation into a powerful group with some good hope of successfully overthrowing the major parties.

Says LaFollette Misled.

Mahoney contended that La Follette had been "misled" into a denunciation of the convention.

"We are meeting in response to the sentiment of a great mass of farmers and workers for a distinct Farmer-Labor party," Mahoney declared.

"It was a cruel and unwarranted attitude for Senator LaFollette to take."

Theft, Suicide By Son Ends Mother's Life

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 17.—Two deaths resulted from embezzlement of $10,000 from the office of a Davidson county judge by W. B. Ferrill, chief clerk.

Ferrill confessed the embezzlement to his mother as she lay in bed ill, then shot himself to death.

Mrs. Ferrill heard the shot, understood what had happened and died an hour later.

Pledge Support to Dawes Plan But Will Hold Ruhr Pending Move By Germans.

PARIS, June 17.—France accepts the Dawes program for settlement of reparations unreservedly, but owing to conditions in Germany cannot evacuate the Ruhr before Germany fulfills the guarantees laid down in the exports report, Premier Herriot told the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon in outlining the policy of his government.

The new government of the left is opposed to a "hostile policy" of force occupation of enemy territory, Herriot said, and will do its utmost to placate the German Socialists.

M'ADOO FORCES IN FIGHT FOR RULE CHANGE

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, June 17.—The move—if one develops—to smash the two-thirds rule in the Democratic national convention here next week may start through "popular propaganda". Those who look for a McAdoo move in this direction, because with the rule abrogated McAdoo could more easily command the necessary majority—550 votes—that would give him the nomination, forecast this.

At the appointed time before the balloting begins, McAdoo leaders in virtually every state will begin deluging delegates with telegraphic demands for the abrogation of the rule.

This demand is expected by the McAdoo forces to have a profound effect on the delegates.

Unbiased observers concede that McAdoo will have in excess of 400 votes on the first ballot. With nearly 500 delegates instructed, the McAdoo managers believe the candidate can pick off more than enough to give him a majority in the early balloting.

E. N. Hurley, chairman of the United States shipping board during the war, is being quietly boomed through the different state delegations as a possible candidate for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Hurley is a well known manufacturer of the middle-west, a business economist of wide reputation, as former chairman of the federal trade commission under Woodrow Wilson, established new principles of relationship between government and business in the difficult problem of federal investigation and regulation. He commands the high respect of the business world.

THRONG PAYS TRIBUTE TO HERO DEAD

Impressive Services Held For 46 Who Lost Lives In Navy Disaster

SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 17.—A broad field, high on a bluff which overlooks the Pacific, today held silent thousands, witnessing the last solemn funeral rites over the U. S. S. Mississippi's dead.

It was on that same field that some of the men, honored now in death, had been honored in life as well as they won athletic glories for "The Good Old Missy." But this morning, with a stalwart guard of 4,000 men from units of the United States battle fleet, they lay in flag-draped coffins in the center of a throng of 20,000 mourners, and with the sympathy of a nation blessing them.

Forty-six caskets rested in the center of the stadium. Bodies of two of the victims, Lieutenant Zellers and Ensign Erwin, were claimed by relatives yesterday for separate funerals.

Flowers, sent from every portion of the country and heaped high in banks which almost covered the stark whiteness of the coffins under their emblems of Old Glory, were placed in position early.

Relatives, arriving amid the hushed respect of those who shared their losses, were ushered to their places on one side of the field. Shortly after 11 o'clock, the escort marched onto the field, as the massed band played Chopin's "Funeral March." All officers were in full dress, and the armed guard in complete field equipment.

Vice Admiral Henry A. Wiley, commanding the battle fleet in the absence of Admiral S. A. Robison, was the first speaker.

"The accident that so quickly snuffed out the lives of forty-eight of our best, found them in their posts," the admiral said.

"Dead At His Post"

"Their last moment gave me the most positive proofs of their courage and devotion. They died in line of duty; they gave up their lives as heroically as ever they could have in battle. There is but little consolation to us in our loss. We find some comfort, however, in the simple epitaph that will mark the resting place of each: 'Dead at his post of duty.' This means to us that the traditions of the service have been upheld. Our comrades died like men-of-warriors. They would not have asked for more."

Rear Admiral W. V. Pratt, commander of battleship division 4, of which the Mississippi is a unit, followed with a stirring story of the tragedy, paying deep respect to the dead. After relating in dramatic fashion the lack of confusion and brave daring which followed the accident, he said:

"To you duty."

"As I look at each of you, lying quietly in death, I can say with every mourner here: 'There lies a man.'"

"Every act of your life has been made white by this supreme sacrifice. He who takes your lives into His keeping will grant you eternal peace."

"Taps" Close Service

"You have gone home."

"Jesus Lover of My Soul" well-edited forth as the band took over the old hymn and sent it out over the waters, heard even to the small turret of the Mississippi, riding calmly at the breakwater's end, where death had struck them down.

Then followed in quick succession fleet chaplains, reading Protestant and Catholic funeral rituals.

A crashing volley of rifles; another, and still another. Then sweetly, slowly, there came 'taps'.

RUMSCANDAL TRACED TO POLITICS

Mrs. Willebrandt Charges Solons Partly to Blame For Outrages

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Politics and politicians are responsible for most prohibition-enforcement troubles, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States told the senate Daugherty investigating committee in three hours of breezy testimony today.

Senators and congressmen themselves made enforcement hard by unreasonable requests for issuance of whisky permits to persons who should not have them and for appointment of men as dry agents who are "crooks or useless," Mrs. Willebrandt said.

For three hours Mrs. Willebrandt, in full charge of prohibition prosecutions for the government and nemesis of thousands of bootleggers, indignantly refuted charges of laxity and inefficiency of enforcement by the justice department and threw the accusations back in the faces of the senators.

The need for the discussion, with action to follow, grew out of the Hope Development school fire, with a probability steps will soon be taken to assure no recurrence of such a disaster, it is agreed.

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—J. Langford Stack, wealthy head of Chicago advertising agency which bears his name, was today gathering together data which, he hopes, will enable him to retain a $50,000 stock of liquor inspected by federal officers late yesterday.

Stack declared the booze was "pre-Volstead stuff and I'm proud of it," and he was told to produce the papers proving his claim. Otherwise the liquor will be confiscated and the law appeared, the dry sleuths declared.

MAN DIES IN QUICKSAND AS FAMILY NEAR

Neighbors Battle In Vain With Shovels as Victim Is Drawn Into Deadly Mire.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 17.—While his wife and children looked on helplessly rescuers tried in vain to save the life of Anthony Antanaritis as he sank slowly in quicksand in the yard of his home at Swoyersville today.

For two hours neighbors, with shovels, kept pace with Antanaritis as his body was drawn into the sand. Finally the quicksand covered Antanaritis' head, smothering him. Some time later rescuers sank a wooden barricade around his body and drew it from the gripping sands.

Physicians who had been summoned stood ready with pulmotors, but they pronounced the body lifeless.

FLIERS GUIDED IN DEEP FOG BY RADIO

DAYTON, Ohio, June 17.—Depending solely upon radio for their bearings, Captain W. H. Murphy, radio engineer, and Lieutenant A. J. Lyons, McCook field pilot, flew 140 miles, recently through a dense fog without mishap.

The journey, from Wilbur Wright field here to Columbus and return, was made to test the practicability of the newly developed radio "finding service".

While the plane remained in its course, a sharp letter "W" was sounded at short intervals in Captain Murphy's headphones. When they were to land the letter "A" was heard, and the letter "N" notified the fliers that they were to the right of their course.

CARSMENDUE FOR BATTLE ON HUDSON

Pennsylvania Shell Held Leading Opponent of Washington 'Huskies'

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—A struggle that may equal the great rowing battles of recent years was forecast as Pennsylvania's stalwart crew, favorite among the Eastern entries, undertook to turn back the triumphant "Huskies" from Washington in the twenty-seventh annual intercollegiate regatta today.

On the gleaming river pennant yachts lined the finish of the course, a mile below the spider web span of the railroad trestle.

Penn's varsity junior crew won the first race of the day by four lengths from Washington, which spurred into second place ahead of a tiring Columbia crew. Syracuse got up to take fourth place from Cornell. The Pennsylvania crew rowed easily at the finish and had strength left for a cheer for its opponents at the finish.

Griswold, stroke of the Columbia junior varsity, collapsed at the finish. Washington, which had gotten away in the lead, was quickly outdistanced by the stronger Red and Blue crew but had a magnificent spurt left at the end.

The winner's time was 10:23 2-5, far behind the record of 9:45 4-5 made by Cornell in 1922.

BRITISH ENVOY FACES OUSTER FROM MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 17.—Peaceful settlement of the dispute between Diplomat Agent Cummins and the Mexican government appeared in prospect today. The diplomatic corps met at the British legation and held a long discussion of the case, causing a report that the foreign office in London probably will advise Cummins to ask for his passports and leave peacefully in compliance with the demand of President Obregon.

Cummins was still barricaded in the legation this morning, with detectives and gendarmes patrolling the streets around the building. The Union Jack floated defiantly over the legation building.

The foreign office announced it will wait for a "prudent period" before expelling Cummins, following the effort at mediation by the Chilean minister, the dean of the diplomatic corps.

The Chilean diplomat, it is understood, now is in communication with the foreign office in London, urging peaceful withdrawal of Cummins.

The Mexican foreign office made it clear, however, that it has not changed its decision that Cummins must leave Mexico and will expel him by force if he is not withdrawn peacefully by his own government.

INDUSTRY MAN GETS RELEASE

Criticism, Bickering Cited By Secretary As Bolt Hurlled Into Meet

JUNIOR ORGANIZATION 'DICTATION' SCORED

Move Made For Harmony, Is Assertion As Step For Future Taken

His action coming like a bombshell explosion at a special meeting of the board of directors, James C. Metzgar, now in his thirteenth year as secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today resigned that position. Simultaneously, six of the other nine directors present offered to do likewise.

The resignations will result in a re-organization of the Chamber of Commerce. This was begun when W. H. Miller, industrial organizer for the booster body, was notified that his services would be terminated July 15.

The directors who resigned were Dr. P. R. Reynolds, C. F. Heil, M. B. Wellington, George Dunton, F. L. Purinton and L. G. Swales. Several expressed themselves as being tired of what they believe to be unfair criticisms of the management of the Chamber of Commerce and of the secretary.

That there had been continued turmoil in the Chamber of Commerce for months, was known. What Metzgar and his friends declared to be unwarranted criticism and blocking of programs, misunderstandings and listening to rumors, is considered to be at the root of the resignations received today.

Storm Center Cited

One of the sources of controversy in the Chamber of Commerce has centered around the industrial department. Some months ago an executive to have charge of activities seeking to bring new industries to this city. Recently Metzgar entered a report with the directors stating that the industrial department was running at an expense that could not be kept up. He declared that the resources of the organization did not warrant the overhead to which the organization was subjecting itself.

It was to consider this question that a special meeting of the directors was held this morning. Members of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce present were J. P. Baumgartner, A. N. Zeman, J. C. Wallace, Director of the chamber in attendance were Charles Spicer, George Dunton, C. F. Heil, J. C. Metzgar, F. L. Purinton, Dr. P. R. Reynolds, William H. Spurgeon, Jr., L. G. Swales, Robert L. Brown and M. B. Wellington.

"I have asked that you be called together," said Metzgar. "To consider the overhead expense of this organization. We can't keep up at the rate we are going. Before we go into that, however, I want to say that I am interested in harmony and am willing to do anything to promote harmony and the interests of the city. I do not believe that the way things have been going in the Chamber of Commerce has been good for the city. I believe that there should be a re-organization, that the differences that have arisen and the criticisms that have been offered should be forgotten and the Chamber of Commerce start in anew. I have the following paper to read."

Reads Resignation.

Metzgar then read his resignation. Not a director present had any idea that it was coming. Metzgar made his position clear in the statement, which reads as follows:

"To the Board of Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce:

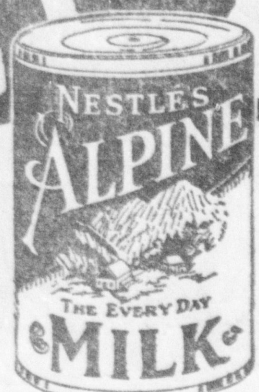

"Gentlemen:

"In view of present financial conditions; the appointment of an industrial man by the Orange County Board of Supervisors; the active co-operation of Robt. E. Brown and associates, who have recently located the Standard American Glass company in Santa Ana, I hereby file this written protest in the name of the same, loyal upholding members of this organization, against the unnecessary and unjustified expense of maintaining a so-called industrial director and his department."

Metzgar further protested and deplored the policy that has permitted the so called Junior Chamber of Commerce to dictate the appointment of three of their members to the directorate of this organization, as an uncalculated and unjustified reflection on the integrity, efficiency and ability of the men who have served their community loyally, unselfishly and faithfully as Directors of this body.

I further protest the suggestion made to consider the sale of the Auto Camp Park and use the proceeds in industrial activities, as unwise and unfair to the citizens and organizations who supported financially and otherwise the project which has given Santa Ana one of the best advertising mediums known to any city of like size on the coast.

Hits Present Policy.

In view of the fact that for many years I have been a part of the constructive, progressive policy that has built the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce from an income of less than $500 per annum and a membership of less than 150, to a strong, well established corporate body of approximately $15,000 per year income, net assets of at least $30,000 and some 850 members, and an emphatically not in accord with the present policy of extravagance.

I therefore hand in my resignation to take effect immediately, or as soon as I can clean up unfinished business which will not be later than July 1, 1924, and demand that this protest and resignation in full be made a part of the records of this meeting.

Very truly yours,
SANTA ANA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
J. C. METZGAR,
Secretary.

Most of the resignations were urged to take effect immediately, but after discussion it was decided that none of the resignations should take effect before August 1. Metzgar, at the request of the board, agreed to remain until August 1. On his insistent demand that his resignation be accepted, a formal motion accepting it was carried.

Discuss Overhead.

The question of getting rid of too much overhead was still before the board. That Miller had not done the work that had been expected of him in some regards, was asserted. Some of the directors were not in favor of doing away with the industrial department, and following that line of argument it was decided that William H. Spurgeon Jr., F. L. Purinton and O. H. Barr should be a committee to delve into the financial situation and see if it is in any way feasible to continue financing the department.

The relations with Miller, however, were adjusted by an order of the board that he devote his entire

But Mahoney at the same time made clear that there must be no disruptions of Progressive ranks, as in former presidential campaigns when the Farmer-Labor party advanced one man and the Socialists another.

News Briefs

Former Indiana residents now living in Orange county will hold their annual picnic at Orange county park Thursday, June 26, according to word which S. M. Kistler, president of the county organization, is broadcasting today. He added that well-filled baskets would be in order.

Building activity in Santa Ana was stimulated today when W. S. Decker, city building inspector, reported the issuance of permits to H. Foster of 1003 Oak street, who will construct a $3000 bungalow at 1008 Hickory street; to John West, who will build a four-room house and garage costing $2000 at 818 North Bristol street; and to H. B. Woodhill of Los Angeles for remodeling his rooming house at 402 Fruit street, at a cost of $1000.

Chas. Spicer, proprietor and general manager of Spicer's dry goods house at the corner of Fourth and Sycamore, started east at noon today on his semi-annual buying trip. He expects to go as far as New York and to be away about two or three weeks. Soon after his return, Mr. Spicer expects to take his family on a trip to Alaska, which, he says, will be his first vacation in seven years.

"Newcomers' night" at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night is expected to be one of the biggest social entertainments that has yet been held in the new building, according to Ralph C. Smedley, local secretary. The entertainment will be held for the purpose of allowing all persons who have not lived here longer than two years to get acquainted with each other and to promote friendship.

Church circles of the city were extended today by the arrival of the Rev. E. V. Jennison and Mrs. Jennison from Los Angeles to lead the congregation of the Full Gospel assembly at 1325 West Fourth street. The Rev. Mr. Jennison was formerly in the ministry in the San Joaquin valley but more recently has been taking special work at the Bible institute, Los Angeles. Mrs. Jennison is said to have a beautiful voice and to aid in her husband's church offices. She was, before her marriage, a worker in the mission fields of the Fiji Islands. The family, which includes a baby son, John Caton Jennison, of Orange.

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM COUNTY PARK

Watching their opportunity when the guard of a "chain gang" at Orange County park turned his back, late yesterday, two prisoners made a break for liberty and made good their escape through the heavy underbrush in the vicinity, Sheriff Sam Jernigan reported here today.

The escaped men are John N. Cox, 19 years old, and his brother, Louis T. Cox, 21, both of Anaheim, who had served six weeks of a 500-day sentence when convicted of the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor.

The break was made at a time when H. W. McKague was left alone in charge of fourteen prisoners who were clearing underbrush at the county park. Another guard had been called to Anaheim to testify as a witness in justice court there. The lone guard, noticing that all of the prisoners were busily engaged in their work, walked several feet away from the prisoners to get his lunch from an automobile parked nearby, according to the sheriff's version of the story. When McKague returned to the group two of the prisoners had disappeared.

Six posse of deputy sheriffs scoured the vicinity of the park most of the night, but no trace of the convicts was found. A description of the pair was wired to the authorities of all nearby cities.

Because of the fact that McKague was required to guard over twice the number of prisoners usually placed under one officer's charge, he has not been severely criticized by those in charge of the sheriff's office, Jernigan stated.

The Cox brothers have been in the county jail here on several different occasions, according to Jailer Orin Moncrief. When last arrested, it was said, the men were accused of bootlegging in Garden Grove. They told local authorities they were roofers by trade.

When the pair escaped, both wore blue overalls, blue shirts and brown shoes. John N. Cox is described as being 19 years old, weighs 164 pounds, is 5 feet 10 inches tall, slender, has blue eyes, brown hair and reddish complexion. Louis T. Cox is 21, weighs 150 pounds, is 5 feet 9 1/2 inches tall, medium build and has light brown hair, blue eyes and reddish complexion.

is located at 1317 West Fourth street.

Dr. Robert M. Kerr, well known here as a former resident of the city, will supply the pulpit at the United Presbyterian church Sunday at 11 a. m., it was announced today by the Rev. W. H. McPeak, pastor of the church. Dr. Kerr now is professor of theology at the Xenia seminary, St. Louis, Mo. He is visiting with his mother, Mrs. Mary Kerr, at her home, Mrs. Mary Kerr, at her home, Mrs. Mary Kerr, at her home.

Report Keenan to
Wed Music Teacher

HOLLYWOOD, June 17.—Approaching marriage of Frank Keenan, veteran stage and screen actor, to Miss Margaret White, young local music teacher, was being discussed in studio circles today.

Keenan is in Honolulu, where he went a month ago, following the death of his wife, stricken with heart disease while watching him in a skit at the Writers' club.

Miss White was a former protegee of Mrs. Keenan. She will sail from San Francisco today, it is rumored, en route for Honolulu and the marriage altar.

MAN IN BIGAMY
CASE TO FACE
NEW CHARGE

A civil action as well as a criminal charge faced George L. Gorman, 24, alleged bigamist, when he arrived today from Phoenix, Ariz., in charge of Deputy Sheriff Lamont McFadden. In addition to the bigamy charge, a suit to annul his recent marriage to Helen Kellogg Gorman, 25, of Santa Ana, was filed late yesterday in the superior court here.

Gorman was arrested at Phoenix, and extradited to this state, when disclosures of his asserted marital adventures were made by two young women who claim to be his wives.

The local girl, daughter of the late H. Clay Kellogg, prominent engineer, was said to be wife No. 2. It was upon her alleged bigamous marriage to Gorman that the criminal charges were based. The marriage occurred here May 18.

At that time, according to charges made in both the civil and criminal actions, he was still the legal husband of Leona Bishop Gorman, Los Angeles, the daughter of a late wealthy Arizona cattleman. The first marriage was said to have occurred in Ventura in 1922.

Mother of S. A.
Teacher Is Dead

Santa Ana friends were grieved today to learn of the death at Toronto, Canada, of Mrs. C. A. Campbell, 211 South Ross street, this city, on Sunday, June 15, within twenty-four hours after her daughter, Miss Ardena Campbell, instructor at the Santa Ana high school, had joined her there in their former home.

Miss Campbell was sent for when her mother's condition became alarmingly serious June 9.

While no details of funeral services have reached friends and relatives here, it is understood that burial will be made at Toronto.

Mrs. Campbell and Miss Campbell have spent the last three winters in this city.

CHARGE DEATH GIFTS FOR WAR
IN CRASH TO
L. A. PILOT

A complaint charging C. H. Kidd, 55, of the Lennox hotel in Los Angeles, with manslaughter today had been signed by Walter M. Breedlove of Corona, father of 16-year-old Edward Breedlove who died Sunday of injuries sustained when the Breedlove automobile collided with a car driven by Kidd in Santa Ana canyon.

A coroner's jury at an inquest held in Anaheim late yesterday returned a verdict recommending that Kidd be held for manslaughter. Kidd has been held in the county jail in Santa Ana since Sunday afternoon.

During the inquest witnesses stated that Kidd had attempted to pass a line of automobiles on the narrow canyon road and, while making a turn on the wrong side of the highway, crashed into the Breedlove car, traveling in the opposite direction.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Breedlove and their 11-year-old daughter were said to be slightly injured in the head-on collision, and Kidd's companion, Mrs. A. Brown, also was reported hurt.

Officials expected that the warrant would be served today, and that Kidd would be arraigned and the date of his preliminary hearing will be fixed in Justice G. W. Ingles' court in Orange.

The Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, officiated. Two vocal selections were rendered by James Nuckolls.

The pallbearers were members of Sedgwick Post No. 17, G.A.R., of which Mr. Avas was a member. The post had charge of the services at Fairhaven cemetery where interment was made.

SCOUT EXECUTIVES
COMMEND WOMEN

Julia Ward Howe tent, Daughters of Veterans, located in Fullerton, has been very active in giving encouragement to scouting throughout Orange county, members declared today, by awarding troop and American flags to the various troops.

Eight such flags have been awarded by this tent in the last few months. This service, according to the Orange county council, offers a strong incentive for troops to go ahead with Scout work. The following letter was recently sent from Scout headquarters to the post:

"It has indeed been with a great deal of pleasure that we from headquarters, have noticed your interest and activity in scouting work throughout the county, particularly in the awarding of troop and American flags to several of our newly-organized troops."

"This matter was reported to the executive board at its last meeting, and the members asked me to convey to your splendid organization, their whole-hearted appreciation for your interest and activity, that is indeed offering much encouragement to the troops immediately concerned."

"We sincerely trust that we shall never in any way reflect anything but credit for the confidence shown in our movement."

Truck, Two Cars
Damaged in Crash

A truck and two passenger automobiles were damaged at 9:30 p. m. yesterday two miles north of Garden Grove, according to a report filed at the sheriff's office here today by E. Serna, driver of the truck.

Serna explained that the left rear wheel slid off his truck while he was driving along the highway. "I shoved the wheel into place," he asserted, "and began to push the machine off the road when an automobile struck my truck from the rear, pushing it ahead into another car approaching from the opposite direction."

No one was injured. Serna told officers he neglected to ask the names of the drivers of the other two damaged cars.

MAGNUS VICTOR IN MINNESOTA VOTE BATTLE

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 17.—Magnus Johnson walked away from Communist opposition and will be the Farmer-Labor nominee for United States senator, according to early returns from the state primary today.

Johnson will run against Ole O. Sagner or Judge Oscar Hallam as the Republican nominee. Hallam has a lead of more than 10,000 over Sagner at an early hour, but the latter is expected to pick up a lead on country returns.

Thomas D. Schall, Tenth district congressman, seeking the Republican senatorial nomination, was also ahead of Sagner on early returns. The tabulation so far, however, contains mostly Twin City and Duluth votes, where Hallam and Schall had their strength.

Theo. Christiansen, Dawson publisher, was leading the Republican field for the nomination for governor. Curtis M. Johnson was next and Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis, close behind.

In the Farmer-Labor ranks Tom Davis and Floyd Olson, both of Minneapolis, were staging a bitter fight for the nomination for governor. Olson was leading with Twin City returns almost complete, but Davis was gaining rapidly as country returns came in slowly.

The vote for Magnus Johnson in the Twin Cities was heavier than anticipated. Including St. Paul complete and scattering precincts from over the state, a total of 747 out of 3,530 precincts, gave Johnson 37,643; Hjalmer Dantes, Communist, 1,109 and Michael Ferch, Socialist, 3,213.

Business Women's Club

The luncheon meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at St. Ann's inn yesterday was quite thrilling, the surprise feature being the appearance of a beautifully decorated cake with sixteen candles, in honor of the birthday of the popular president, Miss Mabel McFadden, whose natal day was last Sunday. Robert Brown, the only man present, counted the candles by request, but, thought there were twenty.

The inn management served a special menu in honor of the occasion, and Miss McFadden shared the joys of the occasion with a number of the members whose birthdays occur in June.

Miss McFadden announced that the Y. M. C. A. had tentatively arranged for Tuesday to be women's day at the building, when there will be classes for swimming and athletics.

Mrs. Sallye Henderson, a member who goes to Colton to reside, was regrettably bidden adieu and showered with good wishes.

Robert Brown was with the club again yesterday, but this time was provided with an excellent accompanist in the person of Miss Ruth Armstrong and the group of three numbers was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Brown was in splendid voice and gave "Shipmates O' Mine," by Sanderson; the dainty "Sylvia," by Olej Speaks; and "Thora," a song of the Northland by Stephen Adams. Pressed for an encore Mr. Brown rendered the ringing: "To-Reader Song" from "Carmen."

SHOW PROGRESS IN DEATH CAR PILOT TRIAL

Slow progress made today in the selection of a jury at the manslaughter trial of J. B. Brooks, Los Angeles motorist, indicated, according to court attaches, that witnesses in the case would probably not be called to testify before tomorrow.

Taking up its task in examining prospective jurors, the defense today displayed utmost care in ascertaining the views and possible prejudices of the venire as to the law in the case, and circumstances as stated. Attorney L. A. West, Santa Ana, and Rollo McNitt, Los Angeles, appeared as counsel for Brooks, who was in court accompanied by his wife.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson and his chief deputy, C. N. Mozley, conducted the prosecution. Judge P. C. Drumm was on the bench.

Members of the motoring party that included Mrs. Stena Duncan, 52, of Montebello, who was killed when the car in which she was riding collided with Brooks' machine near El Toro, were on hand today to testify when called. They were the Misses Ruth, Violet and Margaret Duncan, sisters and niece of William Duncan, Montebello water superintendent, the bereaved widower.

Other prosecution witnesses were motorists who arrived on the scene of the wreck shortly after it occurred, doctors who examined Brooks, and Motorcycle Officers Frank Stewart and Vernon Myers, who arrested him at the time.

HALT BIG FIRE IN WATERMAN CANYON

SAN BERNARDINO, June 17.—Fire which burned through the night over several hundred feet of brush-covered land in Waterman canyon was believed under control today, following an all-night battle in which 90 fire fighters engaged.

Scores of canyon cabins were in the vicinity of the flames, but none was lost, according to late reports. Guards are still posted to prevent a possible new outbreak of the blaze.

The fire started when highway workmen left a box of dynamite caps along the road, the explosives being set off by a small pile of burning brush, scattering flames in every direction.

A Bottle of Milk Is a Bottle of Health

THIS MACHINE COST US $5000.00

WE INSTALLED IT TO MAKE RAITTS-SANITARY MILK BOTTLES THE CLEANEST OF ALL MILK BOTTLES

This system is being installed by the best and most progressive dairies and is highly recommended for all by the United States Government.

After thoroughly soaking the bottles in solution for about ten minutes, where every bottle is completely filled and emptied, every bottle is subjected to eleven different cleaning operations as illustrated above.

Bottles are first lifted out of carriers by revolving spindles between two brushes which thoroughly scrub the outside of all portions of the row of bottles being operated upon, as well as the bottoms of the two adjacent rows of bottles.

Bottles are then rinsed inside before brush-ing, removing most of the dirt, and then brushed with two separate brushes and rinsed with two separate rinsers after brushing.

Bottles then travel for two minutes in an inverted position so that they will drain practically bone dry when discharged and conveyed to the automatic filler where bottles are filled with SANITARY milk, ice cold, rich and pure.

The brilliant appearance of these bottles, after this treatment, must be seen to be appreciated. You are cordially invited to come and view this machine at work in our plant.

Slowly but surely, the Junior Entre Nous bridge club is being converted from a group of pretty young girls into an equally pleasing group of charming young matrons, the latest member to desert the ranks of the club being Miss Constance Vegely, daughter of the city clerk, Edward L. Vegely and Mrs. Vegely of 1420 West Third street, who yesterday became the bride of Kenneth Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baird of West Eighth street.

The wedding ceremony was at high noon and held in Pasadena at the home of a close friend of the family, the Rev. Paul G. Stevens. Accompanying the young people were the members of their little bridal group, Miss Miriam Baird, sister of the groom; and Miss Vegely's honor maid, and Charles Dawes who served Mr. Baird as best man.

Miss Vegely, one of the loveliest brides of the summer, chose a severely plain little white flannel suit of extreme smartness, with white hat, shoes, gloves and summer furs. Bride's roses formed her corsage. Miss Baird, too, was in white with hat and other accessories of yellow.

Immediately following the taking of the wedding vows, the young people enjoyed the delectable wedding refreshments served by Mrs. Stevens. Following a short interval in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Baird were to go to Redondo Beach where they will spend the summer and where Mr. Baird as a member of Grigsby's Californians, plays nightly at the pavilion.

The pretty wedding was the outgrowth of a high school romance, which has continued since the graduation of both young people. The informal announcement of the betrothal a few weeks ago was followed by a number of pleasant pre-nuptial parties for Miss Vegely, one of the most delightful being a miscellaneous shower which the Misses Louise Campbell and Anna Grace McElreave gave her at the Campbell home.

Reads On Program of West Coast Arts

Miss Bayliah May who was in Los Angeles Saturday afternoon to attend an interesting session of the West Coast Arts held at the beautiful new studio of Dell Meadows near Exposition park, appeared informally on the program when she was requested to read a group of her poems.

That Miss May is gifted in different ways, is well known to her Santa Ana friends and admirers, but her talent as a writer is of more recent discovery to her fellow members of the West Coast Arts to which her ability as a sculptor won her admission.

Ebell Gardeners

Thursday, June 19, the Garden section of Ebell society will meet with Mrs. J. E. Paul at 9:30 a. m. when each member is to bring a paint brush and one or more containers (glass, tin or pottery) to be decorated for use as cut flower holders at the flower show which the section will present in the early fall.

Covered with dark green paint they will be most attractive. Following the morning's work, a pot-luck luncheon will be enjoyed at noon with each member to bring one prepared dish and individual table service. Ice cream and coffee will be served.

At 2 p. m. Mr. E. U. Fowler, landscape designer and builder will call for the members and take them on an interesting drive to see scenes in his line of work.

Household Economics

The pleasures of a picnic at Newport Beach loom large on the horizon of Ebell's sixth Household Economics section members who on Friday will motor to the little resort city to spend the day at the P. A. Robinson cottage.

Each has been requested to bring plain bread and butter sandwiches and individual table service. Hostesses will be Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mrs. W. D. Baker and Mrs. A. M. Gardner. Those having no way of reaching the beach are asked to telephone Mrs. Robinson or Mrs. H. M. Samuels and way will be provided.

Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Long Beach occurred a wedding of much local interest when Miss Helen Kemmer of this city became the bride of Chauncey Killian, a Toledo, Ohio, man now living in Huntington Beach.

The parsonage home of the Rev. Mr. Wilcox of the First M. E. church was the scene of the quiet wedding for which Miss Kemmer wore a charming afternoon frock of orchid tulle with white hat and slippers. She was attended by Mrs. Ben F. Hein of Anaheim, who will be remembered as Miss Thelma Beamer of this city. Mrs. Hein wore a dainty summer frock of orchid voile with orchid hat and white slippers.

Mr. Hein served Mr. Killian as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and for the past six years has been connected with the Abstract and Title Guaranty company. She is a grand-daughter of Mrs. Sarah E. Hutchins.

Mr. Killian has made several trips to California from his Ohio home, the most recent being some six months ago when he decided to locate here permanently. He is in the transfer business at Huntington Beach where the young people will be at home to their friends after July 1. In the meantime they are enjoying a honeymoon at Catalina Island.

Kiwanis Zero Hour
Observed Locally
With Program

Not a Kiwanis member or wife but what was today longing to go back to schooldays and enjoy such surroundings as the fortunate youth of the present is accustomed to, following last night's dinner and tour of investigation down at Julia C. Lathrop Junior high school.

It was upon the invitation of Kiwanian H. G. Nelson, principal of the school, that the club members centered their "zero hour" activities at the city's newest school building at the same time that thousands of clubs all over the United States and Canada were assembling to synchronize with the opening hour of the Kiwanis International convention at Denver, Colo.

In the absence of R. R. Miller ("Rusty"), club president, who is in Denver as a delegate, the business of the meeting was conducted by the vice-president, L. R. Crawford. A formal program was carried out opening with chorus singing of "America the Beautiful," and an invocation by the Rev. Otto S. Russell. The moment of silence which followed was concluded by a brief prayer by the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, rector of the Church of the Messiah.

Under the direction of Mrs. Neal Belsel, president of the Julia Lathrop P. T. A., the dinner was served by a group of pretty young school girls, wearing gay green aprons and caps over dainty summer frocks. The menu offered fruit cocktail, tomato in aspic, rabbit, brown potatoes, green beans, strawberry ice cream, home-made cake and coffee.

The dinner hour was enlivened by Kiwanis songs and by selections played by the school orchestra directed by Miss Edith Cornell.

The young people gave a very pleasing program and were highly commended by the club for their proficiency.

The president's gavel was surrendered to John Ester, Jr., who had the evening's entertainment in charge, and who gave a thrilling automobile trip to the diners. Popular choice for a race gave two sides, one captained by John Knox, the other by George Dunton.

Automobile tires which had to be raced from the floor over one's body and passed on to the next contestant, entered into the race and the spectacle of men like W. V. Whitson, Fred H. Taylor and Eli H. Singer struggling to step through the tire gave onlookers the keenest joy imaginable.

Kiwanian Dunton's team, Major M. Burr Wellington, Fred H. Taylor, J. A. Cranston, Raymond Miles and E. H. Singer won over the others composed of Captain Knox, George Cocking, W. V. Whitson, Stanley Reed, Arnold Peek and Eugene F. Westcott.

The Rev. Otto S. Russell, O. H. Barr, A. N. Zerman and Dr. F. E. Coulter took part in a radiator filling contest, assisted by Mrs. John Ester and Mrs. William S. Kellogg. Mrs. Miller and the Rev. Mr. Russell were the winners amid much water spilled while the feminine aids filled the "radiators" by means of teaspoons.

Tire changing called for the maximum speed of doffing coat, collar and necktie upon the neck of William Ranney, Fred Newcomb, E. C. Walker and Elmer L. Crawford and an equally mad rush to rehabilitate themselves. The speed developed by Fred Newcomb with L. R. Crawford a close second amazed everyone—their wives most of all.

Needless to say, the spirit of good-will and amusement thus expressed was furthered by the reading of telegrams from the absent "President Rusty" and from the district deputy and other Kiwanis executives.

Following the dinner and fun program, Kiwanian Nelson and Mrs. Iva M. Webster, vice president of the school, were hosts on a tour of the school, where many teachers were present to act as guides and explain work done in their departments.

An example of the interesting work done was in the clever little place cards bearing a sketch of the main entrance to the school and greetings from Julia Lathrop Junior High School Santa Ana Kiwanis club. The latter's motto, "We Build" was followed by the school's play "We Also Build."

A brief resume of the school's facilities including a faculty of twenty-eight, a student enrollment of 759, the required and elective studies possible and the number of pupils enrolling in different branches, proved the highly interesting reading matter inside each folder.

Following the tour of the school dozens of Kiwanians left for the Walker theater to accept Mr. Walker's hearty invitation to see the second showing of the current film, "Foot's Highway."

Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution who plan to attend the luncheon at the final meeting of the year at Laguna Beach, Saturday, June 21, have been requested to notify Mrs. J. C. Metzgar, telephone 1325-M, not later than Thursday evening.

Members are privileged to take guests on that day and have been informed that tickets need not be purchased until luncheon will be enjoyed at the Tea and Tiffin.

Those who may wish to extend the courtesy of space in their automobiles are asked to telephone Mrs. L. J. Whitson, chairman of the transportation committee. Those who desire transportation are also to telephone her and arrangements will be made for all.

Damascus Shrine

"If we endeavor to live up to the lessons the order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem teaches us, we have grasped a part of the meaning of the star whose brilliant beauty illumined the hills of Judea over 1900 years ago and led the Three Wise Men to the birthplace of the King who was destined to rule the world with love," declared Helen Vianna Kellogg in the beautifully worded address with which she accepted the governing office in the Damascus Shrine at the official installation held at Masonic temple Saturday night.

Representatives from Glendale, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena, Fullerton and Hollywood shrines, together with many supreme officers and members from all over Orange county were present to constitute the new local shrine, No. 13.

Ernest Elwood Ford, supreme watchman of the shepherds, was in charge and was assisted by William Wisner, past supreme watchman and Lela Belle Taylor, supreme herald, Ella Van Court, supreme chaplain, Lela Isbell, supreme organizer and Emily F. Warren, supreme scribe.

After the constituting and presenting of the charter, the officers were publicly installed in a most impressive manner by California's new supreme queen, Emma C. Wisner of Hollywood aided by the same supreme officers.

Officers installed were: Helen Vianna Kellogg, worthy high priestess; Mida May Hall, Noble Shepherdess; Oscar Adelbert Kreighbaum, watchman of the shepherds; Emma C. Jamison, worthy scribe; Kate Wilkie Sutton, worthy treasurer; Elmira Kreighbaum, worthy chaplain; Elizabeth Kleess, worthy herald; Robert J. Prockott, first wise man; James H. Hall, second wise man; Clark Clellon, third wise man; Elmer H. Roehm, king; Elizabeth Fowler Kellogg, queen; Viola E. Prockott, first handmaid; Sadie A. Roehm, second handmaid; Elsie C. Gilloyd, third handmaid; Ada Walters, worthy guardian; Harwood M. Pence, worthy guard; Mrs. Irene Willey, maid of honor; Mrs. Florence Wright, flower girl; B. Pearl Nickelsen, flag bearer; Eudora Vanaken, Bertha Bruce, Alice Gerten and Gladys Lauterbach, queens attendants.

The chapter room was decorated with baskets of flowers and officers were seated in the form of a cross. A delightful program was given. The presentation of the colors and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" followed by a beautiful and appropriate vocal solo, "Omen the Gates of the Temple," by Mrs. Mina Wenzel of Omar Shrine, Glendale.

Mrs. Russell of Brea proved herself a wonderful dramatic reader having to respond three times after giving "Hungry Jim." Miss Louise Montgomery gave three numbers also and her beautiful voice captivated the hearers.

Mrs. Evelyn Pearce, junior past worthy high priestess of Omar shrine and a sister of Mr. Fuller of the Crescent confectionery, convulsed her hearers with two humorous selections. Mrs. Pearce is a favorite reader among the Shrines.

The program was given a charming finish by Santa Ana's talented little dancer, Miss Elizabeth Roehm, who gave two beautiful dances. Inspiring addresses were given by the worthy high priestess and the new watchman of the shepherds.

Light refreshments were served in the banquet room. Approximately 300 persons were present and among the out-of-town people who enjoyed the Shrine were Sojourner Fern Roberts, worthy high priestess of Glendale, who was present with sixteen of her officers, Ernest E. Ford, William G. Wisner, Emma C. Wisner, and the following worthy high priestesses and watchmen of the shepherds: Viola Dunbar, David Livingston and M. R. Kightly, Long Beach; Emily T. Warren, Blanch Lightfoot, Fullerton; Ella Palmer, Hollywood; Evelyn Pierce, Glendale; Elida Van Court, Minnie Jordan, Lulu Belle Taylor, Elmore Gordon and L. Ione Ford, Los Angeles.

The new shrine will meet on the first and third Saturday nights of each month.

Luncheon Guests In Vandermaast Home

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Vandermaast of 425 South Birch street were genial hosts at a cozy little luncheon on Friday last at one o'clock, their pretty home being bright with lovely red roses and cool ferns in honor of the occasion.

The group of guests was made up of Mrs. Vandermaast's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Nowell and daughter Eva, and Mrs. Emma Lyday, her sister, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Mary Hummel of San Francisco; Mrs. Lucille Carter and daughter and Mrs. Alice Moore of Des Moines, Ia.

Following the discussion of the delectable menu, the company enjoyed the evening "listening-in" on radio programs and with social chat.

Youngsters Enjoy Fun
Of Birthday Party
With Comrade

Master Cloys Purvis, young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Purvis, 1655 East First street, was happy host to a group of his friends Saturday afternoon when they gathered to aid him in celebrating his tenth birthday.

Mrs. Purvis with the assistance of Mrs. George Graves, directed the youngsters in a series of lively games including a bean hunt, a "push and pull" game and planning the tail on a donkey. Such frolic resulted in healthy appetites for the birthday refreshments served in the pretty dining room where a bowl of pink carnations and ferns centered the table, and pink candles were gleaming.

The children formed into line to march to the dining-room and as they entered, gay little pink caps were handed out until each was wearing one. Cunning animal nutcrackers marked each place and strawberry ice cream was served with pink and white birthday cake and orangeade. The cake had ten pink candles which Master Cloys blew out as all wished him well.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon were the readings given very cleverly by little Miss Mary-Ana Deaver.

Children enjoying the affair were Mary-Ana Deaver, Mary Alice White, Evelyn Curtis, Louise Marshall, Carmen Puckett, Edna Cheney, Bobby Schaffer, Junior Sappington, Ralph Eads, Leo Curtin, Ferris Glover, Donald Stephens and the young host, Cloys Purvis.

Tables Turned at Birthday Surprise

Cleverly turning the tables upon her friend, Mrs. Edna Kinzella, Mrs. H. Fred Towner carried to a successful termination her plans for a complete surprise at the home, 1225 West Fifth street on Monday evening.

The affair was a farewell to the family, as they are moving next week to their new ranch home west of the county hospital.

Mrs. Kinzella was under the impression that she was manipulating a surprise for Mrs. Towner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Schlasman, and made a number of lovely cakes and prepared bouquets of beautiful flowers, all planning that the surprising party should meet at her home. When all had gathered, Mr. and Mrs. Schlasman rang the bell at the Kinzella home, and entered with their arms full of gifts for Mrs. Kinzella's new home.

It was some time before the hostess recovered enough to open the packages which contained a breaded cake set, a fancy hand board and knife, and a handsome flower bowl.

When the guests were seated for progressive "500", they filled eight tables and the prizes were awarded to Mrs. George F. Jackson, of Chula Vista, Mrs. A. E. House, and Mrs. W. L. Carlisle for the ladies, and H. Fred Towner, William Penrose sr., and his son, William Penrose jr., for the gentlemen.

The home was decorated with sweet peas, General McArthur roses and yellow lilies. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served, the napkins being of patriotic design.

Those who enjoyed the pleasant affair were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. English, Mr. and Mrs. William Penrose sr., Lillian, Ellen and William Penrose jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. House, Mr. and Mrs. Will Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Towner, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schlasman, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gipsen, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan, Mrs. Helen Bunker, Mrs. M. B. Hendricks, Mrs. C. H. Gilbert and her daughter, Mrs. George F. Jackson of Chula Vista, Mrs. L. K. Hendricks, Mrs. Mary Culver, Mrs. Schlee of Venice, Miss Miriam Walworth, Fred and George Walworth, R. E. Walworth and Charles A. Barnum.

Pleasant House-Guest

Miss Daphne Goss, a member of the faculty at Kenwood Hall, a girls' finishing school of Los Angeles, has returned to her home after a week-end visit with Miss Holly Lash and her mother, Mrs. Fanny Lash, 220 Cypress street.

Miss Goss came out to attend the recital in which Miss Lash presented her voice, expression and dance pupils Saturday afternoon. The two were members of the same graduating class at Cumnock School of Expression. It will be remembered that Miss Goss appeared on a late spring program of the Ebell club, in company with Miss Lash and gave keen pleasure to the club members and their guests.

Back Lane and Achy?

SUMMER find you tired and achy—tortured with a bad back? Are you worn out, nervous and dispirited—too miserable to enjoy a moment's comfort?

You should look, then, to your kidneys! Once these marvelous blood-filters weaken, there is slow poisoning of blood and nerves, and many mysterious aches and ills follow. Backache comes, with stabbing twinges, headaches, dizziness, and annoying kidney irregularities. You feel tired, weak—"all played out."

Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills. Home folks strongly recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

Here Is Santa Ana Proof:

William McGreary, retired deputy sheriff, 111 E. First St., says: "I had a dull, heavy pain in my back just over my kidneys and sometimes when I stooped over, I could hardly straighten again. I had to get up as often as four times in a single night to pass water. The kidney secretions, which burned in passage, I had severe headaches and tired, languid spells. Doan's Pills from Rowley's Drug Store greatly relieved the pains in my back and the other symptoms left."

St. Mark Wrote on Skin

Of the fragments of the gospel of St. Mark preserved at Venlois: Mark said they were written on paper; parchment, that they were written on papyrus, and the Benediction, that they were written on bark—while the fact is that they were written on skin.

In the University of Leiden, an Arab MS. on the rare and curious words used by Mahomet and written 888, is the oldest paper MS. in existence. The Arabs learned the art from the Chinese. And that was a thousand years ago.

Since that time all the old skirts, flax, oat straw and softwooded trees have been ground, bleached and when I stooped and sent whirling through the presses to tell the world about everything. It is no wonder that we are so smart. Yet many people now cannot write even a good check.

CONVICT 'LOVE NEST' PAIR AT SECOND TRIAL

Convicted by a superior court jury here of committing a statutory offense, G. E. Brookins, Anaheim printer and Mrs. Addie Wiley, 19, his former employee, today were facing a possible sentence of five years at San Quentin prison. Sentence was scheduled to be pronounced Thursday at 9:30 a. m. by Judge F. C. Drumm, who presided over their trial.

Whether an attempt would be made to secure a new trial or to carry the case to higher courts on appeal has not yet been decided. Attorney Charles Swanner, defense counsel, said today. Such an attempt, if decided upon, will be made Thursday when sentence is pronounced, he said.

Conviction of Brookins and Mrs. Wiley came after two trials, the first of which resulted in a disagreement by the jury. The second trial was concluded late yesterday. The jury retiring for its deliberations shortly after 3:30 p. m. and bringing in its verdict at about 8:30 p. m. An intermission was taken during that time for dinner so that the deliberations occupied about three and a half hours.

Raid 'Love Nest'
The charge against the Anaheim pair resulted from a raid on an alleged "love nest" at Newport Beach, where officers said they found the couple together, living as man and wife. Brookins had a wife and two children in Anaheim, and Mrs. Wiley's husband, C. C. Wiley, lived at Pomona. He had formerly been employed by Brookins, but, according to testimony offered at the trial, he left both his employment and his wife, who immediately stepped into her husband's vacated place in Brookins' printing shop.

Mrs. Brookins, who recently filed suit for separate maintenance, accused Mrs. Wiley of breaking up her home. At their trial, the defendants both denied that they were living together as man and wife at the Newport Beach cottage. In his argument to the jury, Attorney Swanner declared that the testimony presented by the prosecution "might be good evidence for a divorce suit," but did not show an offense against the public.

Innocence Plea Scoffed
C. N. Mozley, chief deputy district attorney, who conducted the prosecution, ridiculed the defendants' testimony that their companionship at the beach was innocent, and demanded that the law be enforced.

The penalty provided for the offense charged against Brookins and Mrs. Wiley is said to be not exceeding five years in state's prison. In this connection court officials explained that the penalty would have been merely a fine or sentence in the county jail had only one of the defendants, instead of both, been married, even though the alleged offense was the same. In cases in which both of the defendants is a married person, the penalty is said to be a fine of not more than $1000 or a sentence of not more than one year in the county jail, or both such fine and sentence.

Following return of the verdict last night, Brookins and Mrs. Wiley were lodged in the county jail to await sentence. Both have been at liberty under bail since their arrest several months ago. The offense charged against them was said to have been committed January 31, this year.

Trial of Appeal
To Gas Damages
Verdict on Here
Trial of an appeal from judgment rendered in Anaheim justice court nearly a year ago, was being held here today before Judge Z. B. West in superior court, marking an effort by the Southern Counties Gas company to reverse an award of $299.99 given to John Crill of Anaheim.

Crill brought suit against the gas company, in defense, contended that negligence must be shown and that none was shown, as the company, it claimed, repaired the leak immediately when notified of it.

The late Justice G. B. Brown of Anaheim gave judgment in favor of Crill July 14, 1923.

Lions Delegate
To Conclave to Leave Thursday
Harry L. Hanson, assistant cashier of the First National bank here, today was making preparation for leaving Thursday for Omaha to attend the annual convention of the International Association of Lions Clubs, which opens there Monday and continues through Thursday night.

Lions of the state will travel to the convention city on a special train. It is expected the Anaheim and Brea clubs will send delegates.

Fully 900 delegates likely will be present, representing the 800 Lions clubs in the United States and Canada.

Hanson will be absent three weeks, it being his intention to visit in Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City following adjournment of the conference.

"This is only the eighth annual convention of Lions International, for it is the youngest of all the service clubs," the banker said. "Although young, the organization has won a high reputation for good work."

Traffic Violators Pay Recorder $35

Four traffic violators netted the city $35 in fines today, according to the record of City Recorder W. F. Heathman. Leo Rafting Jr. paid $25 for reckless driving; E. W. Porter, who broke through traffic in violation of the signals of a traffic policeman, was assessed $2; R. E. Dye handed over $5 for parking his car overtime in the two-hour zone, and cost J. E. Pound $2 for backing his machine into a downtown intersection.

DAWES LAUDED BY FULLERTON DELEGATE

"If Californians have any misgivings as to where Gen. Charles S. Dawes, candidate for vice president on the Republican ticket, stands on the agricultural and horticultural side, they can put them aside; Gen. Dawes is a friend of the farmer and fruit grower."

In such manner did Dr. W. H. Wickett of Fullerton today "size up" President Coolidge's running mate, upon the former's return from Cleveland, where he attended the Republican national convention as an alternate delegate.

Dr. Wickett returned to Fullerton last night. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, delegate at large and at one time mentioned as a possibility for the vice presidency by his California friends, did not return. He went east on a combined business and pleasure trip following the close of the convention and will return to Fullerton late in June.

"A Roosevelt"
"Picture a rugged man, aggressive, gifted with dynamic force; a man with many of the qualities of a Roosevelt, and a man of action instead of words, and you have Gen. Dawes," summed up Dr. Wickett. "The attitude of the people regarding Dawes, as I see it," he stated, "is that he is a man of big interests, satisfactory to capital, more than agreeable to agriculture and one who will solidly publicize the Republican party. He is a man who will make the position of vice president a real head-man's job instead of a mere figure-head post."

He was nominated by Nebraska, one of the great farming states in the Union. Don't worry about his attitude towards the farmer. I ven-

Call Radio Fans Here to 'Y' For Club Discussion

A meeting for all "radio bugs" of the city and county has been called at the Y. M. C. A. for 7:30 o'clock tonight, at which time plans for the forming of a permanent radio club will be discussed and an effort will be made to organize.

As explained by "Y" officials, the purpose of the club will be to draw together all radio fans, in weekly or monthly meetings, to discuss various new sets and improvements and to keep club members well versed in new discoveries being made in radio.

The club is to be organized under the leadership of the educational committee of the Y. M. C. A., and Walter J. Ferris, member of the committee, will have charge of the meeting tonight.

ture to say that Gen. Dawes will do as much for the farmer and the fruit growers of California than any man in Washington today.

Sees Victory.
"President Coolidge has expressed his approval of Dawes as a running mate. I believe they will sweep the country at the fall elections."

The Cleveland convention, according to Dr. Wickett, was one of harmony despite the attitude of the Wisconsin delegation.

In speaking of the possibility of a third party headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Dr. Wickett said he thought the Wisconsin legislator would run for President on an independent ticket. The senator would get the endorsement of the Farmer-Labor party at the St. Paul convention, the delegate predicted, but he would not run under its banner, he thought.

Dr. Wickett believes, he said, that Governor Ralston of Indiana is the strongest man before the Democratic convention, though, he says, William G. McAdoo is still a potential candidate.

BEACH ORCHESTRA WINS KFAW FANS

Speer's "Snappy Six" orchestra from the Huntington Beach studio pavilion, at The Register studio last night broadcast a program of the latest lively dance hits. That the performance "went over" was evident from the number of telephonic requests received from local radio fans during the concert for rendition of favorite selections. In two of their numbers, the Huntington Beach boys sang snappy choruses, with splendid effect.

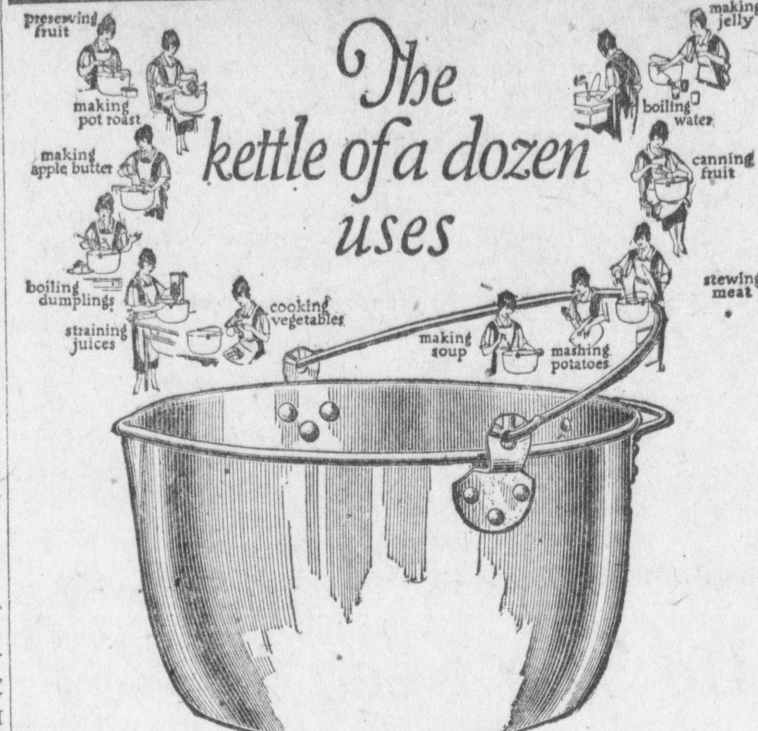

Here is the program which was broadcast under the direction of Director Speer's:

"Ida"; "Blow the Smoke Away"; "I Love You Truly"; "Nobody's Sweetheart" with vocal chorus; "Life and Love Seems Sweeter After the Storm"; "Burning Down"; "Sarah" with vocal chorus; "Shanghai Lullaby"; Duet, "Girl and Boy"; Gene Bump, piano, and Shorty Speer, violin; "Main Street"; "I Ain't Got Nobody Much"; "Stack-a-lee"; "House of David Blues"; "I Don't Want You to Cry Over Me"; "San"; and "Down on the Farm."

Thursday night KFAW will broadcast a program to be given by Arnold's Merry-makers, an orchestra well-known among the resorts of the Southland.

An added feature will be Sherill Spurgeon, a piano pupil of Mrs. Arnold Peek.

Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undetermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen: After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years . . . after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation. I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others." (The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran relieves mild and chronic constipation because it is ALL bran. It brings sure results. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine in nature's own way. Don't experiment. Only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonsful daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbled. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Do You Keep HENS?

IF SO, YOU ARE SURELY INTERESTED IN getting the greatest number of eggs from them; and, at the same time, keeping them in the pink of condition.

In June and July hens naturally are inclined to go into a moult and stop production. They can more easily be kept laying if you do not give them quite so much grain feed now, but increase their beef scrap mash feed. We have found that an exceedingly simple way to feed laying hens is just to give them all the mash they will eat, dry, from a self feeder, all day long. Then, in the evening, just throw out enough scratch feed so that they will clean every bit of it up. But at this time of the year—don't give them as much scratch feed as they would like. Let them go to roost a little hungry. The scratch feed is what keeps up the body heat and energy—the mash feed is what makes the eggs. If a hen has all the scratch she wants, she will seldom eat enough mash but what she gets too fat. This way you can force her to consume more mash and less scratch—just what you want now.

BIG "N" MASH and BIG "N" SCRATCH FEED, together, make an ideal feed combination. "Big N" is a Beef Scrap mash—that's the reason it is such a good egg producer. For sale in any quantity.

Political Periscope

ORANGE COUNTY, AUGUST 26 PREPARING TO CAST BALLOTS FOR DRUMM, SWING, OTHERS

Gather round, ye politicians; drag out the old periscope, and let us see what we can see on the horizon.

For there is an election coming. The date is August 26, and on that date quite a number of things are to be decided in Orange county. On that date we will nominate some Republicans and some Democrats for some of the several offices that voters have a hand in harnessing.

Just so that we may get the periscope into position to cover all of the hills on the horizon, we will get out the list of things that we have every reason to believe will be submitted on the August ballot.

First, there will be a number of judicial positions to be filled. Perhaps, a place or two on the supreme court bench, and one or more on the appellate bench. However, Orange county hasn't a candidate running for any of these highly honorable positions and we will not strain our eyesight today looking too far afield for interesting possibilities.

Drumm for Judge

In the judicial column, however, we will spy something that grabs our brain cells. It's a fact, folks, we are to elect a superior judge.

Nobody has been stirring up any talk about it, for none seemed necessary. It hasn't seemed necessary for the reason that among all of those interested in such things it has been conceded that Frank C. Drumm would be and should be kept on the bench without having to go through a campaign. Judge Drumm, you will remember, was appointed superior court judge along in October, filling the position created by the last legislature. His appointment lasts only through the coming election period. All of those who are at all familiar with courthouse affairs say that Drumm has made an excellent judge. Judges Z. B. West and R. Y. Williams do not come before the people for election this year. Their terms will not end for a couple of years yet.

Swing for Congress

Having thus re-elected Judge Drumm, those of us who are wiggling the periscope, shift it to yonder eminence. It is congressional hill. Upon it we see the figure of Congressman Phil D. Swing, returning from Washington. He bears wreaths of praise from the moral forces of his district for having closed the border at night. He made a fight at Washington to secure a treaty with Mexico whereby border resorts of a pernicious nature—Tia Juana, et cetera—would be moved fifty miles from the border. The state department said the treaty would be impossible. Since he couldn't get that, Swing swung his ax in another direction, and through his efforts with American and Mexican authorities he blocked out an order closing the border at 9 o'clock. Great walls went forth from the gambling hells and booze sloughs along the border. But for every wall that went up from there, telegrams and letters from the law-abiding persons from over all the district went to Phil Swing at Washington, commending him for what he had accomplished. Swing is due to issue a campaign statement at a meeting of his friends and neighbors to be held at El Centro tomorrow night. Doubtless he will declare again his adherence to the Boulder dam, to closing of the border, to protective tariff, and to Newport harbor. So far, Swing's opponent, Sheriff Evers of San Diego, has made no appearance in Orange county since he announced his candidacy a month ago.

Supervisors Three

Yes, indeed, we see three supervisors standing serene upon the horizon. Three of the board of supervisors are due to go before voters this fall. Leon O. Whittell of Orange, appointed when N. T. Edwards was advanced to state highway commissioner a year and a half ago, is up. It is generally understood that Whittell will have no opposition, for he has made an energetic and successful supervisor, and Orange seems to know when it is well off.

Similar situations seem to prevail in the first and third districts. It is known that the county is now being represented by S. H. Finley, Santa Ana, and William Schumacher, Buena Park. It is a well known fact that Finley's influence, always petty, has grown steadily, and that he is today a greater power in the county's business than ever before. Schumacher of the third district, is an old hand in county affairs, now, and around the courthouse. It is known that he works, first, last and all the time for his district, though not losing sight of the interests of the county as a whole. He has the reputation of having the keenest eye imaginable for what's coming up and that his district should have, and the longest pair of legs one ever saw for running it down.

Whether Schumacher will be re-elected without opposition cannot be forecast. His district enjoys a scrap, it seems. There is talk to the effect that Judge J. S. Howard, old-time political war horse of Anaheim, will be entered in the race against Schumacher.

The Assemblyship

All is not yet told concerning the fight for assemblyman. True, S. C. Hartranft of Fullerton has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination. Dr. C. D. Ball of Santa Ana, present assemblyman, has been running right along. It is understood, and when Dr. Ball is doing anything, count on it, he works hard and fast. Just now, comes a stir on the horizon off toward Brea, and another in the direction of Anaheim. For at Brea lives Attorney Monte Fiscus, who besides being a lawyer is secretary of the Orange County Truckmen's association, and Attorney Fiscus has in mind making the race for the assembly. At least, he has had it in mind. And at Anaheim lives William Webb, attorney and American Legion leader. Webb, too, has had aspirations directed toward Sacramento.

However, the wise ones say that when the field of entries is finally made up there will be but one candidate from the north end of the county.

So far there is but one candidate for state senator. The one candidate is S. C. Evans of Riverside, who ably served this district, which comprises Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties, during the term before the one now drawing to a close. A state senator is elected for four years, an assemblyman for two.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BOARD OF TRUSTEES THANKED BY BUSINESS MEN FOR "ADS"

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17.—A petition of thanks signed by numerous business men and proprietors of shops on the pike was read last night at the regular meeting of the city council here commending and thanking them for their recent action in starting an advertising campaign in The Register.

One of the largest crowds in the history of the city was said to have been present at the beach here Sunday following the appearance of the first of a series of advertisements.

A request from the property owners of Sixth street asking that a lighting system be installed on their street was taken under advisement by the board of trustees. The matter will probably be tabled. It was declared later when a communication from the Edison company and rulings of the railroad commission were read to the board in regard to the curtailing of the use of electric power. Dale M. Peters, local district superintendent, read the message, which stated that every district must cut their consumption of electricity at least twenty-five per cent or the circuit switches would be pulled and the entire district would be plunged in darkness. The city engineer was instructed to see that city lighting was curtailed at least twenty-five per cent immediately.

The bids on street were held over until the next meeting. Considerable discussion was held over the awarding of bids, as to the differences in prices. Representatives of the Westinghouse Electric company, the Marbell Electric company, and the Pacific States Electric company are to be asked to be present to the next meeting of the council to provide prices on various fixtures.

The city engineer was given instructions to see that Franklin street is oiled in the near future. The matter of the construction of an auto tourist camp ground on the Huntington Beach company property at the corner of First street and Ocean avenue will be taken up this afternoon with Mr. LeShay, manager of the Huntington Beach company.

City Attorney L. W. Blodgett was instructed to prepare proceedings for the opening of Twelfth and Acacia streets through the Methodist camp grounds. The condemnation of the huge old tabernacle will be necessary in the proceedings. It is understood in connection with this that a petition for the paving and opening up of Twelfth street will be submitted to the board of trustees at their next regular meeting.

Announcement was made of the meeting of the chamber of commerce here tonight. The meeting will be held at the Otis banquet hall at 7:30 p. m. The matter of appropriating $1000 as a donation for the chamber was held over by the councilmen until after the meeting.

CHAMBER DINNER HELD AT ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, June 17.—The annual community dinner, marking the close of chamber of commerce week in Anaheim, was held last night at the Elks clubhouse with several hundred in attendance.

Explaining the activities of the chamber of commerce and the civic affairs of the city featured the topics of several short talks given by business and professional men, in addition to the principle talk given by Rev. Walter Thornton of Fullerton.

F. A. Yungbluth spoke on the necessities of flood control, the values of city extension, and explained by Frank Tausch, and Dr. A. Johnson told of the good roads problems here. The work of the local industrial committee was presented by Henry Adams and C. C. Lamb told of the ornamental street lighting program.

William Falkenstein presented figures which revealed the growth of the chamber of commerce and the benefits of the membership of the chamber during the past two weeks; the aims and needs of the merchants' and manufacturers' association were told by O. H. Renner, and the transportation problems were explained by William Wood, and Kurt Epstein told of the value of publicity.

H. B. TRUSTEES TO HIRE NEW ENGINEER

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17.—A special meeting of the city council will be held at the city hall here this afternoon to select a city engineer. Numerous applications for the position have been offered to the board and after considerable discussion last night it was decided to investigate each application before taking steps in the matter. Several local men have applied for the position as have also several men from Santa Ana and Los Angeles.

The resignation of City Engineer L. F. Gates, accepted some time ago by the board of trustees, will take effect tomorrow and the city faces the problem of being without a city engineer if the trustees fail to make a selection.

Among the applications for the office of city engineer were of A. F. Kaline, formerly of Fullerton; Merwin Ross of Santa Ana; Malcolm M. Galbraith of Los Angeles; Charles E. Sloane of San Francisco; Curry Engineering company of Alhambra; H. F. Holly of Nevada; George A. Schwabing of Long Beach; W. W. Hoy of Santa Ana; B. E. Hendrie of Los Angeles; E. M. Billings of Los Angeles; J. William Cook of this city; R. J. Nemechek of Los Angeles and Thomas Berry of this city.

S. A. GETS MEXICAN CHURCH CONVENTION

The annual Sunday school convention for all Spanish speaking congregations in Southern California will be held in Santa Ana next May, according to announcement made by the Rev. H. G. Burgess, pastor of the Richmond avenue Methodist church, who attended this year's convention at Gardena.

The Rev. Mr. Burgess represented the Santa Ana Ministerial association in extending an invitation to the Mexican convention to hold their sessions here next year, which request was accepted.

More than 500 Mexicans, all belonging to Protestant churches in the Southland were present at this year's meeting, the pastor stated, and as many are expected here next spring. The convention will be held for three days.

Lynch Is Victor In Typo Election

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 17.—James Lynch, of Syracuse, N. Y., has a majority of 2,629 votes over Charles Howard in the presidential contest of the International Typographical Union, according to complete unofficial returns today on the Typographical election.

Other officers elected were: Seth Brown, Los Angeles, first vice president; Austin Hewson, New York, second vice president; W. Hays, Minneapolis, Minn., secretary-treasurer.

City Attorney to Oppose Boost in H. B. Phone Rates

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17.—Efforts to prevent an increase in local telephone rates will be made in behalf of the citizens here by L. W. Blodgett, city attorney, at the hearing of the application for permission to join the local telephone exchange with the Smetzer, which will be heard before Railroad Commissioner Brundage this afternoon at 3 p. m.

According to statistics submitted to the board here last night Blodgett showed that the Smetzer line has nearly one mile of line to every subscriber. The maximum amount allowed for subscribers, it is pointed out, is about one fourth of a mile to each subscriber. Should the consolidation of the lines take place it is the aim of the city engineer here to prevent the city engineer here to prevent the Smetzer line being made the basis for the telephone rates in the city.

LAUD WAR FILM TO BE SHOWN BY LEGION

"Flashes of Action," said by those who have seen it to be one of the greatest action pictures taken during the late war, and which depicts the various phases of the life led by the American doughboy in his successful efforts to win the World war, will be shown here June 23 and 24, under the auspices of Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion.

This great film, Legion men here said today, was secured from the war department. It will be presented here at the Temple theater. A special matinee for children is scheduled for the afternoon of June 23.

This is one of the few real action pictures taken by the United States signal corps," a Legion statement said, "and vividly describes the hardships and suffering of the American soldier in France, covering the action services of the 91st and 49th divisions overseas."

"It will be of especial interest to the people of California owing to the great number of boys from this state who formed the famous 91st division. These men participated in the great advance in the Argonne forest which broke the hold of the imperialistic forces in Germany and which proved the deciding point in the great war."

Santa Ana Legionnaires who will take part in an original prologue in connection with the picture are: Walter Gerken, chairman; Fred Merker, Fred Landwehrbach, Floyd Turner, W. G. Gutz, Paul Cozad, Robert Collins, Buck Fipps, Sylvester Roehm, Charles Nussbaum, Vernon Mohr, Dean Collier, Francis Westgate, H. J. Joyce, Eck Lacey, Z. B. West Jr., Tom Lambros, H. C. POMPEII LIVES AGAIN

NAPLES, June 17.—The glories of ancient Pompeii were brought to life recently when the 700th anniversary of the Royal University of Naples was celebrated. The ruins of the buried city were adorned with laurel wreaths and flowers, games similar to the old Olympic games were held in the amphitheater, and at sunset the "Carmen Saeculare"—a professional hymn composed by Horace—was sung by costumed choirs.

COUNTY HARBOR AID IS URGED OF CONGRESS

Members of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce board of directors, meeting yesterday, drafted an appeal to congress, urging that favorable action be taken promptly at its next session on an appropriation of government funds for aiding in the development of the tri-counties harbor at Newport, L. R. Crawford, chairman of the directors, announced today.

Staunch support of the harbor project, it was shown, has twice been voted unanimously at meetings of the Junior Chamber.

The following message, which met the approval of the entire board, was wired to congressmen at Washington, D. C.:

"The Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce fully realizes the necessity of opening Orange county harbor in order that the tremendous tonnage of the products of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties can be handled with greater speed to meet the now pressing competition. This organization pledges its support towards the completion of a commercial harbor when government aid is given, in making the entrance to Orange county harbor safe. The saving made by use of barge shipments has fully demonstrated the need for immediate action."

Home Looted Two Successive Nights

On both Saturday and Sunday nights burglars entered the home of G. Hoskins, 1322 Logan street, according to a report on file at police headquarters here today. Some silverware was stolen Saturday, but Hoskins discovered no loss Sunday night, the report stated. Entrance to the house was gained both times through an unlocked window. Sunday night the thieves took the front door key with them.

Rupture EXPERT HERE

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will personally be at the Rossmore Hotel, and will remain in Santa Ana Thursday only, June 19. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—employing instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Warning—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with the underpans, as same rest where the lump is and where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fee if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.

DECIDE ON DOWNTOWN SEWER BETWEEN RAILS

WOULD REVOKE TREATMENT OF WATER EDICT

Chlorination of the municipal water supply of Santa Ana will be discontinued within the week, it became known today, after Walter Wray, superintendent of the water department, declared at a meeting of the city council here last night that he had asked the state health department for permission to discontinue treatment of the water.

Wray declared that the state department still has control here and that the city could take no action without consent of that body. He said that he anticipated early action on his request.

The council will renew at its next meeting proceedings for the opening of Sycamore street, north from Washington avenue to Fifteenth street, according to announcement made by Mayor J. W. Tubbs.

Steele Finley was awarded the contract for paving, with asphaltic concrete, Oak street, from Bishop to McFadden, on his bid of 25 cents a square foot for six-inch pavement. B. R. Ford was given the contract for laying five-inch concrete on West Third street, Pacific to Western, on his offer of 19 3/8 cents a square foot.

On recommendation of Nat Neff, street commissioner, the council authorized the purchase of an Austin street sweeper, at $7000, and a Graham Brothers truck for $1717. J. B. Windsor, lessee, and the Southern Pacific company, owner, gave assurance that correction would be made at once of objectionable conditions existing on a vacant lot at the corner of Lacy and Second streets. Property owners near the lot had complained against the indiscriminate piling of building material on the property, alleging that the property was an eyesore and a detriment to surrounding properties.

Romo brothers were given a permit to operate an auto repair garage on South Main street, in the 1800 block.

By passing to bonds unpaid assessments for paving work on East Fourth street, fins was written on efforts of the council to force repaving in front of Frank Thomson's property, 902 East Fourth, and that of J. B. Compton, 909 East Fourth street. At the time of repaving the street some three years ago the property owners refused to have the work done in front of their properties. According to the assessments shown last night, the owners will have to pay $1361.90, in ten equal payments, for work that could have originally been done for less than 50 per cent of that sum.

The city engineer was directed to order at once paving of West Nineteenth street, Main to Broadway.

TURTLE FACTORY

MELBOURNE, June 17.—A new industry—a turtle factory—is being established on the Laccapedia Islands, off the northwest coast of West Australia. Green and Hawksbill turtles caught on the island will be treated on the spot at a special factory and the edible flesh will be shipped to London.

Realtor Eligible For Fullerton's Postmaster Job

William M. Irvin, Fullerton real estate agent, was the only one of three applicants declared eligible by the civil service commission for appointment as postmaster at Fullerton, a news dispatch received here from Washington today stated.

According to the regular routine, Irvin's name will next be submitted to the Republican county central committee, of which he is a member, and it endorsed by that body will be recommended to the post office department at Washington by Congressman Phil D. Swing.

Merton Blackford, present postmaster, did not seek reappointment after serving four years.

Two other Fullerton men applied for the appointment. They were Walter G. Franz and George C. Hinson.

2 SANTA ANANS IN JAPAN SEE GLOBE FLYERS

A clear vision of the Japanese attitude in some quarters toward the United States immediately after the passage of the immigration bill is revealed in a clipping of the Tokyo News, an English newspaper in the Japanese capital, which was received here today by The Register from Dr. Peryl Magill, Santa Ana osteopath, who with her sister, Miss Julia Magill, is spending a year in the Orient, and who was also at Tokyo at the time the American flyers arrived there.

Dr. Magill's letter, regarding the aviators' visit is as follows: "It has been a real privilege to be in Tokyo at the time of the arrival and visit of the American aviators of the 'round the world flight'. My sister and I attended the ball and reception given in their honor by the naval and military attaches of the American embassy, and in discussing California and Santa Ana, in particular, with Lieut. Smith, commander of the flight, he said there was only one thing about Santa Ana and vicinity he did not like and that was the speed regulations. He said he avoided Judge Cox whenever he could.

"We expect to spend the summer in Karuzawa, Japan, a mountain resort about 120 miles from Tokyo and then take a trip through northern China and return home about September."

Some Urge War
The fact that Japanese leaders urged Japan to war against the United States is brought out in the clipping from the Tokyo News. On May 26, soon after the bill was passed, giant mass meetings were held throughout the city, at which time flags of the various nations of the world were flown. One writer stated that "the Stars and Stripes, however, was conspicuous by its absence." Handbills that were passed around in the crowds, according to the newspaper, declared:

COUNCIL DENIES SLOT MACHINES TO YOUTHS

The asserted sport of playing slot machines will be denied boys and girls in Santa Ana not 18 years old as soon as the city council can make effective an ordinance limiting the "sport" to adults.

Acting on the request made by the ministerial association and a number of men's brotherhoods of the city, the governing body last night directed City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., to at once prepare an ordinance prohibiting minors from playing the machines.

The Rev. William E. Roberts, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was spokesman for a committee representing the organizations.

Investigations by attorneys had disclosed that the slot machines recently introduced here are strictly within the law, and that they cannot be legally banished, as he made an appeal for action by the council that would prevent minors using them. "Older men will have the gambling spirit will play the machines in spite of all that can be done by the ministers or the police," the pastor added, "but we can prevent the minors from forming the habit of gambling while the machines develop, and we ask that you take some action that will protect the youth of our city."

The minister asserted that young girls of the city are fast becoming regular patrons of the mint machines.

Otto Jacobs, attorney, representing owners of machines, told the board it would be discriminating against the youth of the city if it passed an ordinance such as the minister suggested.

"America is a second Germany, and is now taking advantage of its exhaustion of the other powers which are impoverished after the world's great war. America is trying to make the most of the situation and is haughtily making fools of other nations."

"Her ambition to subdue the rest of the world is apparent. An American president acted as if he held sovereign power over the world towards the end of the great war. How he trampled upon the league of nations, which he, himself, had advocated."

"At the Washington conference, he forced the naval ratio upon the other nations as it suited his country, assuming upon himself the role of dictator."

"America ignores all other nations. She speaks for peace, humanity, justice, but that is all pretension and deception. Mexico has been invaded; Hawaii and Cuba have been annexed and the Philippine islands have been swallowed."

Ignore Quake Aid
Speakers at mass meetings declared that the United States "agitated among the Koreans, befriended Chinese and ignored Japan at every possible turn." One Adopt Parallel Parking Rule For Church St.

W. G. Knox, street superintendent, today was under instruction of the city council to repaint parking stalls on the north side of Church street, between Main street and Broadway, changing them from angle to parallel reservations.

At the present time angle parking prevails on both sides of Church street, leaving a narrow driveway. Heavy traffic on the street, the result of opening of the Y. M. C. A. building, made the change advisable.

Parking of cars directly in front of the Church street and Sycamore street entrances to the "Y" building will be prohibited, under action of the council.

75 S. A. Sciots And Band Attend Beach Initiation

Seventy Sciots, members of Santa Ana pyramid, journeyed to Long Beach in a caravan of fifteen autos last night to take part in an initiation ceremony at that city. Santa Ana's Sciots headed the procession as it trekked through Orange county.

When the line of cars arrived in Long Beach, it was disclosed here today, members of the local pyramid paraded on foot through the business district, stopping on prominent corners while the band played.

The hall in the Chamber of Commerce building, where the ceremony was held, was packed to its capacity. Nearly seventy-five candidates were taken into the order during the evening, among them Harry L. Hanson, Dr. R. H. Chapin and J. A. Briggs, all of Santa Ana.

speaker stated, "at the Washington conference, America slighted Japan before the other nations. She bribed some Japanese to agitate against the existing conditions. She has tried to spy out our secrets of defense and resorted to all manners of underhanded trickeries."

America's friendliness towards Japan at the time of the earthquake, when millions of dollars were sent to Japan for relief among the stricken districts was little appreciated if a remark made by one of the speakers was taken to reflect the entire Japanese attitude.

He said: "When the calamity visited our metropolis the United States tried to tame us by flattery and kindness. No sooner had she made herself certain of our loss of strength than she at once began to reveal her designs upon us. She has slighted and deceived us as we have never been before and she does not hesitate before inciting a racial war. Her lack of humanity and sympathy is beyond description."

The speaker ended his speech with fiery words, stating: "The time for proving our loyalty to our nation is before us. Rise, my friends to the battlefield. Let us prepare for war. The haughty shall not last long."

COUNCIL IGNORES PROTEST PACIFIC ELECTRIC ISSUES

Overriding objections made by streets. the Pacific Electric company, the city council last night decided to install the proposed new sewer line on Fourth street, Ross to French streets, in the center of the street and between the double tracks of the railway company.

Contract for the work was awarded to Wucetich and Dakovich, on their bid of $6975.

L. B. Denton, assistant to the chief engineer of the railway company, said that the company would not attempt to operate its cars over that portion of the street on which the work will be done.

Stating that the company's cars weigh fifty tons, the railway man said it would be too hazardous to attempt operation of its rolling equipment with a trench two feet wide and ten feet deep along side its tracks. He said that pending completion of the work, the company would have to make its terminal at Ross street for cars running between Los Angeles and Santa Ana. He intimated that possibly the Orange line would be discontinued altogether.

Suggestion was made that possibly the company could maintain a bus service between the end of the line on East Fourth street and the temporary terminal at Ross street. It also was proposed that the company maintain operation of the Orange line by making a temporary terminal at Main and Fourth streets.

REVEAL COUNTY WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT CAMP PLANS HERE

Treatment of Children of Community Threatened With Disease Aimed

SUITABLE SITE ASKED

Tuberculosis Association Develops Project With Finances Pledged

Backed by the endorsement of clubwomen and social welfare workers, a project aimed at establishment of a "preventorium" camp for Orange county children threatened with tuberculosis, was unofficially laid before the county supervisors today by Mrs. Amelia A. Meagher, public health nurse representing the Orange County Tuberculosis association.

Plans for the "preventorium," already under way, are now directed toward securing a suitable site for the camp, it is said. No selection has so far been made.

At present there are about twenty children who would be housed at the camp, Mrs. Meagher stated. To maintain the camp for two months in a temporary location, as now planned, would entail an expense of $1000 which the association, she said, is now seeking to raise.

Want Permanent Site.

A permanent "preventorium" in a permanent location, however, is the ultimate aim of the tuberculosis association, which, according to Mrs. Meagher, hopes to save many children from threatened seizure by the white plague. The Orange county "preventorium" would be developed, she indicated, along the line of that located at San Diego, where buildings have been established and elaborate preparations for the care of children were adopted.

Part of the needed sum for the first temporary camp has been raised, Mrs. Meagher stated. The Orange County Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations has given the fund a start and the individual associations, it is said, have promised more financial aid. At its meeting in this city last Saturday,

WOMEN DISPUTE 'RIGHT' AGE GIRL SHOULD BE PERMITTED TO WED; HUSBANDS SILENT

The Navy "hop" at Annapolis, where many a romance blossoms, brought together Ella Beckman, 18, daughter of a United States army colonel, and Robert D. Lowther, naval student. It was love at first sight, but annulment at second—for the beautiful girl is under 18 and he is under 21.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 17.—

The question of "how old is Ann" was put away in the files of the Women's club here recently and the dust now may gather without interruption for another matter considered by the matrons to be more timely has rushed in to take its place.

Now they are asking: "How old should a daughter be before she should be allowed to assume the duties of a wife?"

Sixteen years has been favored, as one extreme, and 20, curiously enough, has been set for the maximum.

Meantime, opinions may be had for the asking.

Not a few husbands, it is rumored, have been drawn into the controversy and their wives are

3 SETS TWINS IN GRADUATING CLASS HERE

School Officials Believe World Record Made Here By Junior High

By graduating three sets of twins in one class, school authorities here today expressed the belief that the Santa Ana public schools have set a record that never has been duplicated by any other school in the world.

To the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school goes the credit of having such a class graduation record. At the senior high school auditorium tomorrow at 8 p. m., members of the class, together with that of the Frances E. Willard junior high school, will receive diplomas entitling them to become sophomores in the senior high school.

Mary and Marian Bruner, daughters of Mrs. Mary P. Bruner, 527 South Birch street, are the youngest of the sextette. They were 14 years old last January. They were born here and have gone through all the grades of the local schools.

Helen and Irene O'Brien, 14 years old last October, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien, 1002 South Birch street. They also were born in Santa Ana and have gone through the local schools.

Hubert and Herbert Prior are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cal E. Prior, 605 South Barton street. They were born in Riverside fifteen years ago and had completed five and a half grades there when their parents "found themselves" and moved to Santa Ana. They entered school here in the last half of the sixth grade.

A strange coincidence. It was shown, lies in the fact that all of the families reside in the southwestern part of the city.

SOPRANO THANKS SHRINERS ELKS FOR SUPPORT LENT TO RECITAL DUE HERE TONIGHT

MRS. ELEANOR WOODFORD dramatic soprano, who will appear in costume recital at the Temple theater here tonight at 8:30 o'clock. Appearing with her will be Raymond Harmon, prominent lyric tenor, and Lillian Gunther, interpretative danseuse, both well known in the Southland.

Gratified at the support which the Orange County Shrine club and Santa Ana Elks are giving her costume recital, to be given at the Temple theater here tonight at 8:30 o'clock, Mrs. Eleanor Woodford, prominent dramatic soprano and widow of J. C. Woodford, who was both a Shriner and an Elk, today thanked members of both organizations and stated that in return for their courtesies she was willing to assist them at any time in the future in any entertainments they might plan.

It was recalled that the Orange County Shrine club cancelled its dance, scheduled to be held at Balboa tonight, to permit members to attend the recital here and that Dr. V. A. Rossiter, exalted ruler of Santa Ana lodge No. 734, B. P. O. E., bespoke for the singer a large attendance on the part of his brother Elks.

"The co-operation I have received in Santa Ana has been splendid," Mrs. Woodford said. "I am more than grateful for what Mr. Woodford's friends have done for me, and the Shrine club and the Elks' lodge should feel free to call upon me at any time to assist them in any of their undertakings."

Assisting Mrs. Woodford tonight will be Raymond Harmon, hailed as one of the Southland's most prominent lyric tenors; and Lillian Gunther, equally prominent interpretative danseuse.

The program is described by local music-lovers as one of much color and beauty. Mrs. Woodford's first group includes songs by Mozart, La Forge, Rachmaninoff and Speaks. The second group, two interpretative dances by Miss Gunther, are "Marionette," by Arndt, and "Wild Flower," by Woodford. Harmon's songs include "Dawn," by Curran, "Lullaby," by Scott, "Heigh Ho," by Burleigh, "Land of the Sky Blue Water," by Cadman, and other favorites. Several other attractive numbers are included in the list of songs to be presented by Mrs. Woodford, not the least of which is the "Ave Maria" number which she will give jointly with Miss Gunther.

DANCE CROWD ORDERLY
 SEAL BEACH, June 17.—City Marshal Arnold reports the Sunday dance crowd as being the best conducted crowd he has ever seen in Seal Beach. There were more than 250 couples on the floor at the Jewel City dance hall. It is estimated that between 7000 and 9000 people spent the afternoon and evening at Seal Beach. 1,500,000 BOND ISSUE VERDICT OF COMMITTEE DUE AUGUST. PREDICTION

Tour of L. A. Harbor June 26 to Be Followed By Meeting For Reports

PROGRESS IS SHOWN

Ultimate Decision May Be of Final Consideration, Secretary Declares

Each day brings nearer an announcement to be made, probably during August, by a "committee of fifty" of its attitude toward calling a bond issue of $1,500,000 for the improvement of Orange county harbor, Harry Welch of Newport Beach, secretary of committee, declared today.

"Orange county persons," he added, "doubtless will know sometime during August what the committee's decision is. We realize persons are anxious to hear what our ultimate verdict will be, but any of us can do so to fix a broad tentative date."

Meantime, Welch explained, various subcommittees are working hard in investigating the phases of the harbor development to which they have been assigned. Some, he added, already are virtually through with their details.

Status Is Told
 "This in brief," the secretary added, "is the status of the committee of fifty."

"Some are working—others are virtually through. Later we must place our material together and make deductions. The decision on a bond vote, of necessity, probably will come up for consideration last."

"At present we consider the tour of Los Angeles harbor, set for June 26, as one of the most important occasions before us in the immediate future. A few days after this the committee of fifty will meet and I expect this meeting will bring out the fact that our work is nearing completion."

One of the most important decisions of a meeting held by the committee here last week was that to name a committee on industries. Welch added, L. F. Coburn of Orange, president, was expected to make the appointments this week. A few of the committees, in filing with Welch reports of the progress they had made, displayed the fact, the secretary added, that their investigations had been thorough. About thirty members attended.

To Visit Shippers
 The committee's completed report ultimately will reach the board of supervisors for official decision, it was explained.

Announcement was made that D. Eymann Huff, chairman of the subcommittee on shipping, or another member of his committee, contemplated making a trip to San Francisco to confer with various shipping companies to ascertain their needs and demands to make Orange county harbor a regular port of call.

Numerous letters have been received by Welch, he said, asking for information relative to the proposed improvements of the harbor. These letters, for the most part, have been answered by shipping men in San Francisco.

Six subcommittees of the general committee of fifty are making a thorough investigation into the harbor situation. The subcommittee and their chairman are:

Ways and Means, J. P. Greeley, Balboa; land, H. H. Hale, Placentia; engineering, Hugh T. Thompson, Orange; traffic, J. S. Smart, Santa Ana; shipping, D. Eymann Huff, Orange, and legislation, O. E. Gunther, Orange.

The officers of the general committee are:
 President, Coburn; first vice-president, C. L. Crumrine, La Habra; second vice-president, Henry Adams, Anaheim; treasurer, J. K. Hermon, Santa Ana, and secretary, Harry Welch, Newport Beach.

EXPECT 300 AT H. S. ALUMNI BANQUET

Approximately 300 former students of the Santa Ana high school are expected to attend the annual alumni banquet to be held at St. Ann's Inn Saturday night, according to a statement made here today by Miss Blanche McDowell, secretary, who stated that no reservations would be made after Thursday.

"Applications for reservations are coming in fast," she added, "and because of a new rule made by the hotel, we will have to notify the management Thursday night how many will be present Saturday."

For this reason, Miss McDowell urged that all alumni make their reservations to her immediately.

The high school alumni banquets have been held for the past thirty years, according to Miss McDowell, who stated that every effort was being made to break last year's attendance record which was 275. Present indications were, she declared, that there would be more than 300 present.

Attorney Fred Forgy has been selected as toastmaster for this year's banquet.

GRAIN PRICES GAIN ON CHICAGO MARKET

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, June 17.—Grains finished sharply higher on the board of trade today.

Following a midday dip, wheat rallied and the sensational advance was again resumed. Seaboard advances reported no re-sales but some fresh business was worked.

Corn stepped out of its slump and gathering strength from wheat, closed sharply higher.

Oats were dull and inclined to lose ground were it not for other grains. Provisions went to a higher finish.

Peter Newhall, Augusta, Ga., flees to Alaska, after being told by Ivan Shmin, Russian violinist, he had drowned Paul Sarichev, Ishmin's secretary. Ishmin and Peter's wife, Dorothy, had urged him to flee to South America. He joins Big Chris Larson in response to a distress signal at sea, giving Larson his sea jacket. Their launch hits rocks.

Dorothy receives word that her husband's body, identified by Ivan Shmin, is buried in Alaska. But Peter has been rescued by another ship. Injuries completely change his appearance, hiding his identity. Larson's body occupies the grave.

Ishmin and Dorothy go to Alaska to return Peter's body to Georgia. They do not recognize Peter, who is chosen head guide. A storm carries their ship to sea, stranding them at the grave. Peter and Dorothy hunt. He carries her across a stream.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

It was only an incident of the trail, and it disturbed her that, as she walked on toward camp, she could not get it out of her mind. It did not please her that she could be moved, even vaguely and faintly, by this crude, rough man of the barrens. Yet, somehow, she had been caught to think of the incident, of their girlhood. Memories, tender and dear, had been quickened to life.

To Pete the moment had been of nothing less than glory. He, too, knew it was only an adventure of the trail, that it was but the image of a hopeless dream that must never—could never—come true; yet for an instant it had lifted him, as with wings, out of the valley of the show.

CHAPTER X

Peter saved Ishmin. Dorothy found, to her great surprise, that the days of waiting passed rather swiftly. She slept long in the mornings on the comfortable, rudely contrived grass mattress that Pete had made for her; she played cards with Ivan, and made many little adventures excursions into the wild with one or both of the two white men. Ivan was consideration itself, always willing to beguile her with his marvelous music, wooing her with his finesse of ardor, fascinating her in hours of talk with the intricacies of his brilliant intellect, and of his complex, marvelously attractive personality.

Yet she owed a great deal to the head guide, too. In particular he watched over her material comfort, superintending the preparation of her meals so that every cup of coffee, every succulent breast of ptarmigan was exactly to her taste, keeping her ever warm and dry, refilling her mattress every day with freshly cut grass and keeping the fire bright every morning in the camp stove for her to dress by.

It was not so easy to explain the instinctive comradeship she felt for him. Of course he was the one man of her own race in the entire company, and here—far from the cities of men—bonds of race were revealed as of surprising strength.

From Pete's point of view the days went by in a single flash between the curtain of night, and he dreamed to his heart's depth the certain to come when the Warrior would roll in on the waves and carry Dorothy out of his life.

His attitude toward Ivan was too complex ever to completely straighten out in his mind. In the first place he had a deep admiration and unflinching respect for this genius from the East. He was pleased and gratified by the man's attitude toward Dorothy; his own most chivalrous instincts seemed reflected in the Russian. Yet sometimes a sudden, white flame, strange to his sight and puzzling to his heart, mounted and paled in the thin, almost beautiful face; sometimes he was appalled and estranged by a spark in the almond eyes, a gesture of the white hands; and sometimes he caught a fleeting expression on the classic countenance that awakened, in his own heart, a sullen, almost a murderous rage. Once, on bringing fresh fuel to the little camp stove in Dorothy's tent, he found the girl in the Russian's arms.

She had just yielded to his lips, and she was convinced—at the instant that Pete appeared at the threshold—that in Ivan's arms she followed an exciting, but secure. But she was instantly cold, inexplicably appalled, as she looked into Pete's face.

She could not have explained why. The man looked drawn, as in the last stages of fatigue; but there was no conceivable excuse for her sense of shame, her strange drawing-in to herself and inability to emerge, again into Ivan's warmth.

On leaving the tent Pete walked straight past the camp fire on to the hills. He was profoundly shaken and unnerved, not from amazement at what he had seen—he had realized that Ivan and Dorothy were virtually engaged—but at the narrow margin by which the girl had missed irrevocable disaster. It had not been by too wide a margin that he had restrained a mad, tragic impulse to leap into the tent and shatter the man's life.

He spent a restless night after the incident, and his peace of mind had departed from him. For all that this was his last dream on earth—the only shadow of happiness that he dared to hope for—he felt that by all conscience he must cut a higher, better trust in himself was shattered, and there was nothing for him now but to turn away from this camp where his love was and vanish among the desolate hills. His star would soon set, the tower of his only strength was tottering. Yet the hours passed, and he lay in his bunk, unable to reach up to this sacrifice of self. But if he had faith in himself, a higher, better faith had come to him in these years in the wild, and the basic prayer, the first and last cry of all mankind, came easily to his lips: "Oh, Lord, lead me not into temptation, and deliver me from evil!"

Yet it was a higher wisdom that temptation should come to him, in an unexpected form. Before the day that he saw break over the eastern hills sloped down again to darkness.

The party of five had made serious inroads in the small caribou he had brought to camp, and partly with the idea of procuring fresh meat, and partly because he wanted to be alone with his bitter thoughts, Pete announced his intention of penetrating the interior on a hunting expedition. Dorothy was lame from a stiff climb of the evening previous, so she declined his invitation to go. Ivan, however, looked up from his book with heightened interest.

"I'm getting soft as mud from too much ease," he said. "I believe I'll go with you this morning. I believe I can crack down one of those caribou with my pistol."

Pete stiffened slightly. "I don't see how both of us can go, unless Mrs. Newhall wants to go, too," he said quietly, so not to be overheard by the two natives.

"True enough. It had slipped my mind for a minute. We'll take the natives with us—I think it would be a good plan to kill several caribou, if we run into them, and try to cure them—in preparation for emergencies—and these men can help you carry the meat into camp. She's safe as she could be anywhere in the world. None of them would wild beasts of the region will come within miles of her, and there are no other humans."

"I'll stay and struggle with your book then, Ivan," Dorothy said. "Soon they fled away into the hills, Ivan leading with his pistol, then Pete, carrying his rifle, and the two Indians, unarmed except for their hunting knives, bringing up the rear."

They deployed like a squad of advancing infantrymen as they neared the first alder thicket, the two Indians remaining at the extreme right and following a deeply worn bear trail, like the ruts of an old road that conducted them easily through the heavy barrier of brush; and Pete and Ivan seeking separate paths to the left. They were in the brush thickets behind. The animal was better than two hundred yards distant when Pete glimpsed her again, running in a great arch up the hill. She made the poorest kind of a target as she leaped through the scattered clumps of brush, but eager to procure meat as near camp as possible and not to miss any chances, and perhaps slightly startled and audacious appearance, Pete fired vainly at every opportunity. Whether or not he hit the animal at all he could not tell, for at the fourth shot she disappeared into the thicket almost opposite Ivan.

The echo of the rifle report rolled, dimmed, and was still, and the men stood in those queer, fixed attitudes that almost follow any excitement. Presently Ivan beckoned and pointed into the brush thicket beside him.

"She is right here," he called. "You must have got her that last shot. I hear her thrashing around."

It seemed entirely probable that the deer had swept through the brush unseen and had fallen wounded but a few yards from Ivan. Pete started to grope for her shells; Ivan peered into the brush.

It seemed to the head guide that, as he paused, he could hear faintly the rustle and stir in the brush that came so distinct to Ivan; and he was not greatly surprised to see the latter draw his pistol and begin to fire in evident excitement. He supposed, of course, that the man was putting the finishing touches to the fallen caribou. No blame could be laid on Pete that he did not call a warning; he did not distinguish the real identity of the creature in the thickets until it was too late.

The animal that suddenly bounded out of the thickets was a bear cub of that season, and it was squealing in mortal agony from the pistol lead. There was no danger in him; he was less than knee high and was desperately seeking flight. But Pete knew, and the Indians, appalled on the hill above, knew, that a squealing cub means an enraged mother not far off.

And in the wink of an eye the great, shaggy dam came roaring out of the thickets like an avalanche—straight toward the hapless Russian.

Fear-ridden though she was, the bear-cub could not seek flight when her dying cub cried for help. She charged with unsped ferocity.

"THE BEDROOM WINDOW"
CLOSES TONIGHT

The cast of "The Bedroom Window," an original screen story by Clara Beranger, presents a line-up of leading players that is all-star in every sense of the word.

May McAvoy and Malcolm MacGregor are featured in the principal roles of the picture, a gripping mystery comedy-drama, which will be shown for the last time tonight at the Yost theater.

Ricardo Cortez also has an important part in the cast, as well as Robert Edeson, George Fawcett and Ethel Wales. All are featured. Then there is Charles Ogle, who can always be relied upon to give an excellent character portrayal, in a comic butler's role, and Guy Oliver plays a detective.

Medea Radzina, the famous Russian beauty, is recently cast as an altogether charming young woman who claims that the murder in the picture was committed over love for her. Lillian Leigh and George Calliga also appear in support.

REHEARSED "HEAVY" ROLE
FOR THREE DAYS

William Beaudine, who directed "Daring Youth," is now showing at the West End theater, is author of the story for the statement that Lee Moran, who plays a comic heavy role, spent three days studying out and rehearsing one small bit of action.

The "small bit" was a fall over a banister as a result of which Moran went tumbling down a small flight of stairs to the ground.

"The average fan will probably put it down as a good bit of impromptu stuff," Beaudine declared. "We on the inside know that Moran studied hard to get it right and he deserves all the credit in the world for going about his work in a thorough businesslike manner."

"Daring Youth" is a comedy drama of modern marriage in which Bebe Daniels plays the starring part with Norman Kerry as the male lead.

Big Shipments of Booze Arrive for British Sailors

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 17.—Nearly every steamer arriving from the United Kingdom is coming direct to this port to discharge a big shipment of liquors for the navy.

Late June and early July will see several thousand lads in Jack Tar uniforms here and as some of the boats will be dry by the time they get here, their wet storages will have to be replenished.

The London Importer arrived this week with 3000 cases; another ship came in last week with 4000 cases, and nearly every boat has a share of this freight.

The liquor comes in bond and is carried to a bonded warehouse awaiting arrival of the navy squadron.

"The Midnight Sun"

Movie Chatterbox

To Hollywood recently came Elena Juarno from the Cebu shore with the belief that producers might be beguiled to introduce the Filipino woman to the screen public in her own attractive person.

Having come to the States two years ago to take a minor part in films, with a return to her native island to produce a picture in the interim, she considered herself not just a novice.

But while Hollywood accepted her as a charming, cultivated individual, and recognized her talents in dance and pantomime, it turned deaf ear to her proposals to establish the Filipino maid among the other race heroines of celluloid.

"No one knows anything about the romantic life of your women," the producers argued. "Hawaii and the South Seas, that's different. They have more literary and screen tradition. Now we'll be very glad to cast you as a South Sea belle—you know the hula dance, and everything!"

Shuns "Hula" Role

"No, thanks!" said Elena with just a touch of sarcasm in her soft voice. "I don't care to make the implied apology for my own race. It's not so much a job I want as an opportunity to portray the life and traditions of the Philippine folk." Which gave considerable pause to said producers.

Miss Juarno, 22, with convent schooling somewhat mitigating the ardors of her girlhood when she ran scantily clad beside the sea with native companions, is the daughter of an American army officer and a Philippine mother. Her ivory skin and limpid, expressive eyes trace the high caste of original Spanish stock. In the islands she is accounted a striking beauty.

With her mettle, tenacity, intelligence and charm Miss Juarno will shortly find some of our hula-minded directors kicking themselves for having visioned her only as another grass-skirted dancer.

"Yes," shrugged Elena, "I can do the so-called 'hula.' Learned it at a San Francisco dancing school. But why such stress on a South Sea wiggle?"

Meantime, while Miss Juarno is preparing the public via her stories, we will have to yawn through considerable "South Sea" footage and hippage—you know, the wild weenies of Walkiki, trained in the dancing school around the corner of Main Street.

"FOOLS HIGHWAY" STARS MARY PHILBIN

The old Bowery, with its quaint resorts that have gone down into romantic tradition; Chuck Connors, Philadelphia O'Brien and Steve Brodie, the man who took a chance and thundered down the stairs to fame; these all will live again in a gripping film romance, "Fools Highway," first starring vehicle for Mary Philbin since her astounding success in "Merely a Fool."

The new picture, a spectacular picturization of Owen Kildare's famous life-story, "My Mamie Rose," is showing at Walker's theater.

The story is a tense heart-interest tale about the old New York street and its famous folk. It is known that the tale was the true story of life of the author, who, starting as a gangster and fighter, eventually became one of America's most famous authors.

The Bowery, rebuilt from old photographs, was reproduced in detail at Universal city. Brodie's reason, "Chickory Hall," "Suicide Hall" and other famous resorts are transferred to the screen exactly as they existed for settings in the tale.

Changes Made in Bank Directorate

ORANGE, June 17.—At the regular meeting of the directors of the First Commercial Bank of Orange recently, the following changes were made, necessitated by the death of R. L. Rees. R. Rees was elected president; William G. Hagen, first vice president; L. A. Stevenson, second vice president. The other officers remained the same.

Judge R. R. Rees was formerly on the bench in Kansas for a great many years. He was afterwards elected to congress and served at the time ex-Governor Stephens served. Getting tired of politics and judicial duties, he emigrated to California and has been a resident of this vicinity for about eight years. Before coming to California he was president of the Citizens' National Bank of Minneapolis, Kansas, and understands all conditions pertaining to banking and the interests of the country.

William G. Hagen is the present chairman of the board of the grammar school board of trustees, also acting as secretary thereof. He has been in business here a great many years.

There were no other changes in the organization, the remainder of officers holding their respective positions.

WOMAN WRITER IS SPEAKER AT ORANGE

National Marriage and Divorce Is Urged For United States

ORANGE, June 17.—At the final meeting for the summer, the Women's club here, Estelle Lawton Lindsey, writer of the "Log of the Good Ship Marriage," in the Los Angeles Evening Express, spoke on the importance of having stricter laws governing marriage and divorce.

Mrs. Lindsey stated that the people should be as concerned about the laws of marriage as the other laws of this country. She brought out facts, by her personal experience with people, that proved how almost impossible it is in practically any state to force fathers or mothers to support their children.

Many people have brought their problems to Mrs. Lindsey, and she stated that she has discovered that very rarely in cases of desertion does the husband run away because it is impossible for him to bear matters at home. "The woman usually suffers more," said Mrs. Lindsey, "but if she is the stronger, morally, of the two, she will stay with her children and her home."

Mrs. Lindsey believes that many of the other countries do more towards making parents support children than America. She mentioned the fact that millions of children are employed in the factories and mines in this country, and thus not receiving the education they should receive.

Mrs. Lindsey stated her belief that "If very soon we do not have a national marriage and divorce law, we shall have no marriage."

In telling some of her experiences with people who seek her advice, Mrs. Lindsey said: "A woman came to me and said, 'Well, the man I am intending to run away with doesn't love his wife anyway, so what difference does it make?' Mrs. Lindsey replied, 'These new ideas concerning love and breaking up families are all the bunk!'"

In the conclusion of her talk Mrs. Lindsey spoke of the bill that is being drawn up by some of the editors of magazines, the Pictorial Review being one. She said that in this bill, however, there is no mention of what action should be taken against the homebreaker, who is, in her eyes, one of the most guilty.

The women of the club heartily received Mrs. Lindsey's talk.

Mrs. R. B. Wallace, one of the club members, sang several numbers, making up the program for the final meeting until fall.

MESA RESIDENTS HOPING FOR OIL

COSTA MESA, June 17.—Rumors here today to the effect that leases on which wells would soon be started had been secured by the Standard and Shell Oil companies. lent added force to the belief of local citizens that indications of oil in a commercial quantity had been found at the Interstate well Newport Heights No. 1.

According to the rumors circulating here today the Shell Oil company is said to be starting construction on three rigs on Wilson avenue near Fairview heights in the near future. This rumor could not be verified. The Standard company is said to have secured a lease on considerable property on the Fairview heights northwest of town and many people are said by local realtors to have withdrawn their property during the past two days as a result of this rumor.

Despite the fact that word given out at the Interstate Oil company well here yesterday was to the effect that no indications of oil had been found, residents are of the opinion that oil will be found and hence either the price of their land, or the price of the oil, will be raised.

The Interstate Newport Heights No. 1 was said to be at an approximate depth of 1900 feet yesterday. Tests of the well are being taken every ten feet, according to reports. A crew of men is working on the well night and day. The breaking of the sump hole dike which allowed considerable oil and water to run down over the hillside and onto the road was said by the men at the well to be responsible for the rumor that the well had come in. The company has erected another rig on the corner of Eighteenth street and Pomona avenue west of Costa Mesa, and about one mile from Newport Heights No. 1, which it is expected will start drilling operations at once. The well will be operated by electrical equipment with the latest machinery, it was stated.

SCHOOL ADDITION WORK IS ACCEPTED

COSTA MESA, June 17.—Work on the new additions of the local grammar school was accepted yesterday by the local school board who at the same time authorized the expenditure of approximately $500 in the fitting up of one of the bungalows with modern equipment for use as a kindergarten next year. Miss Viola Tummond, who has been secured to teach the small children next year, is superintending the work on the kindergarten construction.

The work on the additions, which includes five new classrooms, was completed recently by Jules W. Markel and Son of Santa Ana. The entire cost of the five rooms and fixtures will be about $20,000, it was declared by school officials. The school grounds and buildings will be cared for during the next year by W. H. Cole of this city, who has had considerable experience about grounds and schools in the east.

Five new teachers have been secured for the next school term, it was announced today. Twelve teachers will be employed at the school next year while only eight were employed during the past year. Miss Mary Kerfoot, principal, who recently became the bride of a Long Beach business man, will not return to the school next year. Her position will be filled by Dale Evans of Anaheim. MUNICIPAL AUTO CAMP AT NEWPORT BEACH ATTRACTS TOURISTS FROM OVER LAND

NEWPORT BEACH, June 17.—The Municipal Auto Camp at Newport Beach, started four years ago with one city block as its entirety, today comprises practically six city blocks, and gives promise of expanding.

While few cross country tourists make this camp their stopping place it is densely populated throughout the summer months, on Saturdays and Sundays and especially on holidays.

Last year, according to W. J. Truax, custodian of the camp, the total receipts were $3500. This year he expects the receipts to run close to $10,000. For the month of May this year Mr. Truax declares his receipts were more than double those of the corresponding month a year ago.

The month of June to date has yielded as much in receipts as the entire month of June a year ago.

"It is not the intention of the city of Newport Beach to make money on its auto camp," declared Mr. Truax today. The expenses are almost equal to the receipts.

We charge 50 cents a night for camping space, $2.50 a week or $8.50 a month. Water hydrants are located in front of the tents every 50 feet for the entire six blocks.

"The people who have visited this camp in the last three years are the biggest boosters and on them we rely for our advertising. And I guess it pays. I have received more than 300 letters already from people wanting reservations for July Fourth. But they're out 'o' luck. The policy here is first come, first served."

There are many amusing experiences connected with the camp. Many people are very kind, but there are others who don't even stop to think.

"For instance, Saturday night after I have remained up until after 3 o'clock registering guests I lay down for a nap. I had hardly closed my eyes before I was awakened by a big fellow in a bathing suit, who wanted to borrow my clam rake."

"Well I leave it to your imagination what I thought. Of course I loaned him the rake."

KANSAS FLIWER EMPLOYED ON HONEYMOON

NEWPORT BEACH, June 17.—It's an old custom, this honeymoon business, but there are different methods of conducting it.

Lynah Kelling and his bride of three weeks, both of Smith Center, Kans., are taking their honeymoon in a reconstructed flivver.

Three weeks ago the wedding bells rang out in Smith Center. Four hours later Kelling and his bride were on route west. The old flivver that was used in the courting days had been transmuted into a palace on wheels.

A miniature bungalow superceded the tonneau. A dining room, bedroom, bath and kitchen were all rolled up in one.

Through Colorado, over the mountains, across the plains of Arizona and New Mexico traveled the trusty, and now rusty, steed.

Sunday night the bride and groom arrived in Newport Beach and stopped at the municipal auto camp.

"We're having the time of our lives," chirped Mrs. Kelling as they left the camp this morning. "We're bound for Oregon and Washington and hope to get back to Smith Center this fall. But I don't care if we're a few weeks late. It'll probably be a long time before we can take another trip."

Mennes tract will start in a few days.

Miss Irma Robinson was a shopper in Anaheim Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Golden attended the funeral of A. A. McLean, former manager of the Globe Mills at Fullerton, which was held in St. Vincent's church, Los Angeles, Tuesday.

Mrs. F. C. Smith and children of La Mirada will leave soon for a visit with relatives in St. Louis. Miss Cleo Smith will enter St. Vincent's Academy in that city this fall.

Mrs. G. W. Perry is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Hamill, at Yorba Linda. Mrs. Hamill is quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dodd and family have moved to Hemet.

K. C. Baker and family of Garden Grove have moved into the Thompson house on Whitaker avenue.

L. T. Wilsey has recently installed an ice storage of 1800 lbs. capacity on his ranch. He will have ice for sale at all times.

Jack Grady of Olive has leased one of the store rooms in the store building owned by Johnson & Golden and will install an up-to-date restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Warren motored to Fullerton Friday.

Mrs. O. R. Dano and Mrs. W. B. Shaw and sons have been spending several days at San Bernardino.

Turns on Lights, Woman Camper Gets Shower Bath

NEWPORT BEACH, June 17.—When one mistakes the knob of a shower bath faucet for an electric button there is usually something doing. This was something that occurred at the Municipal Auto camp at Newport Beach.

A woman stepped into the women's rest room at the auto camp on Saturday evening. She turned on what she thought was the electric light, but instead of light she received water, cold and wet, oh, much wet.

The dry cleaners were closed for the night but the old reliable clothes line in back of a certain tent was kept busy for some hours to come.

The authority for this yarn? Well, W. J. Truax, in charge of the camp was the author.

COAST HIGHWAY TO BE OPEN BY SEPT. 1

NEWPORT BEACH, June 17.—By September 1 there will be a continuous highway from the northern California line direct to Newport Beach and within a short time thereafter through Serra to the Mexican line below San Diego.

This is the announcement made yesterday by J. F. Beal of the Beal Construction company, in charge of the coast highway construction.

The company is ready to proceed with the laying of concrete. This will start as soon as the highway grading work at Corona Del Mar has been completed to the Santa Ana river bridge.

The completion of this work before the end of the summer will mean that, with the exception of about ten miles in the vicinity of Oxnard, there will be an unbroken stretch of highway from Oregon to Mexico and that the coast highway will have been practically completed.

It is the plan of the Orange County Harbor chamber of commerce and the other civic organizations to hold a celebration to mark the completion of the highway and just as soon as the date can be announced by the contractors, the date will be announced.

Power Reduction Made at Fullerton

FULLERTON, June 17.—Reductions of electric power in this city and district are now in effect as part of the policy adopted by the Southern California Edison company. Street lighting is to be cut 25 per cent in line with the conservation plan and all consumers are affected in the same proportion.

REALLY MAN SUES PARTNER

SEAL BEACH, June 17.—R. V. La Rue filed a complaint Saturday against J. T. Kennedy for recovery of commission. La Rue claims that a lot was sold and Kennedy received full commission when part was to go to La Rue. Court trial is set for next week in the local justice court.

REAL PROPERTY AT BEACHES ADVANCES

Land Bringing From 15 to 20 Per Cent More Than Last Year

BALBOA, June 17.—Real estate and building in Newport Beach and Balboa show a decided increase over the corresponding period a year ago, according to a survey made in these two enterprising beach cities.

Real estate at the present time is bringing from 15 to 20 per cent better prices than a year ago and in some localities runs as high as 50 per cent.

Lots on Balboa Island that could be purchased a year ago for $100 today cannot be obtained for less than four times that amount.

Bay front property at Balboa commands almost any figure one wants to ask. This is due to the fact that wealthy people who have yachts desire property on the bay front with the result that they will pay almost any price for it. However, there is comparatively little to be had at any price.

The advance in the price of Balboa Island property is due, realtors say, more to the fact that the boulevard is under construction, than to any other. Bay front property on the island will be snapped up quickly at high prices when the boulevard is complete, real estate dealers declare.

At Balboa, at the present time, there are between sixty and seventy houses under construction. Most of them are dwellings and they are all modern, according to Frank L. Crandall, a contractor. There is one business block under construction and it will be ready for occupancy within the near future.

Sale of lots and houses at Newport during the past month have been numerous. Lew H. Wallace and W. A. Irwin, the only realty dealers at Newport Beach declare they have had to increase their sales force in order to keep up with the demand. More than three score sales were reported during the month ending June 15. Most of the sales were lots. They were sold to people who plan to build thereon.

Speculative buying is almost a thing of the past at both Balboa and Newport Beach.

Business property in the beach cities has not been as spirited, however, there have been practically no sales of business property.

Rentals also have been slow during the last month. This is explained, however, by the fact that schools in Los Angeles and Hollywood do not close until June 22 when it is expected there will be a decided rush in the rental business.

Arrest Autoists At Seal Beach

SEAL BEACH, June 17.—A number of motorists were arrested this last week. The charges against them were speeding, exceeding the limit at intersection of business streets. All who were arrested were from Long Beach and Los Angeles. Those paying fines were Roy De Toss, $10; C. L. Cunningham, $25; Ira Worman, $25; C. B. Shook, $20; David Carlson, $20; Frank Hobbs, $15; Mrs. V. Edwards, $20; J. A. Hall, $10; Fayette Blitcher, $20; E. D. Friend, $15.

WASHINGTON IS BIG REGATTA FAVORITE

Experts Predict Another
Victory For Giant Crew
From Pacific Coast

By FRANK GETTY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 17.—Regatta day dawned fair with ideal rowing conditions for the fifteen crews of six universities which will contest in three races over the Hudson river today.

All morning long pennant yachts moved about the smooth expanse of water beneath the towering bluffs opposite Poughkeepsie, gradually forming the lanes down which the final stretch of the races will be rowed. Between 50,000 and 75,000 spectators were expected, if the weather held fair.

The crews themselves, they lolled about their training quarters, their hard preparatory grinds at an end, nothing to do but kill time until the starting bomb.

The Washington crew, champions from the coast and winners at the twenty-sixth annual college regatta here last year, was a favorite to repeat its triumph. The westerners were favorites at 2 to 1 over the big Penn crew, their strongest rivals.

Others in the varsity race, which starts at 6 p. m. daylight saving time, were Syracuse, Cornell, Columbia and Wisconsin.

Charles "Rusty" Callow's Washington Huskies are not the smooth rowing aggregation that triumphed last year, but there appears to be even more power in this year's boat. The Washington crew is not evenly balanced, one or two tall men in the waist upsetting the nice line of heads and shoulders displayed by some of its rivals in final practice, but Callow's men are probably more powerful and faster than any boat which will take the water today, besides which the westerners have drawn the Lucky Lane number two.

Last minute shifts were made in some of the eastern boats for the minor races, but all varsity eights remained intact.

Jim Rice, coach of Pennsylvania, reported that his charges were in good shape for the afternoon struggle. Dad Vall, Wisconsin coach, was a long face and wasn't so confident about his crew's chance in the varsity event, but said the boys were fit and ready.

The crack three-man teams from the A. and B. and the Broadway all-ways tangle tonight at the Broadway academy in the second of their five-series contest to settle the rivalry between the two houses. The A. and B. All-Stars captured the initial fracas last Tuesday by a narrow margin. The squads clash tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Broadway academy needs one more three-man bowling aggregation to complete the schedule for the special league and Harry Gaspar and "Andy" Anderson, proprietors, will accept the first entry listed.

COBB AND JOHNSON DEANS OF BIG SHOW

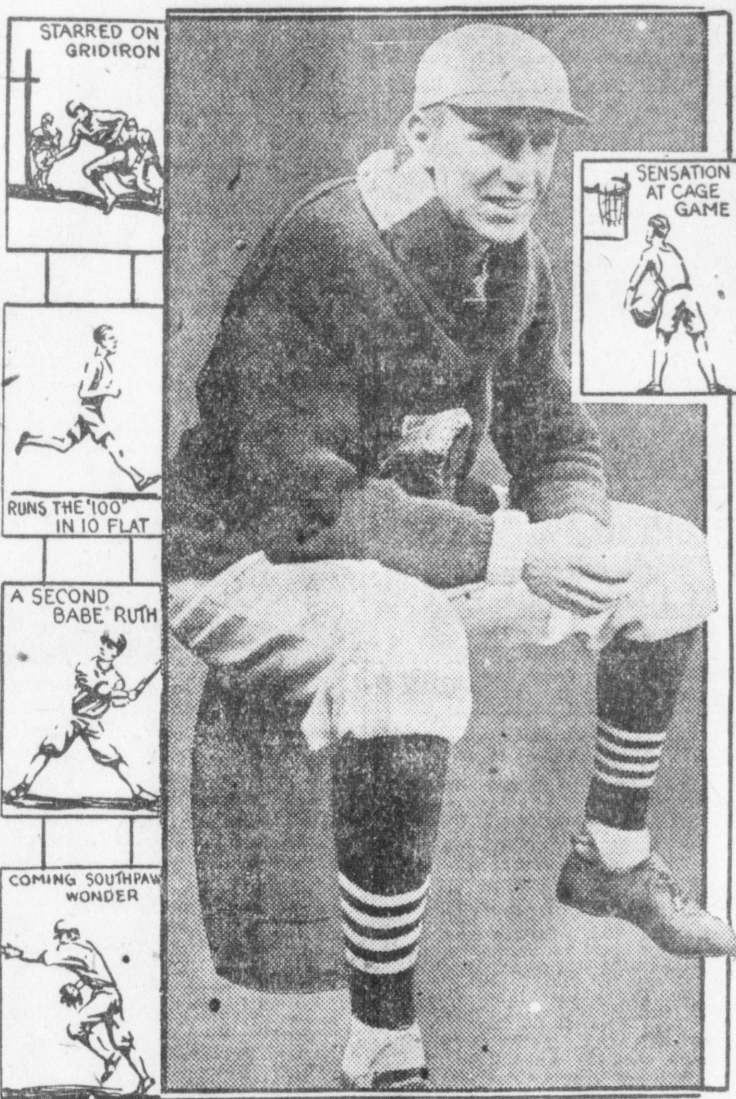

Stars of Tigers, Senators
Spend Entire Careers
With Same Club

Among present-day major league ball players two of them—Ty Cobb and Walter Johnson—hold unique distinctions. Not only does Cobb rank as the oldest player in point of service, but each has played with but one club during his big league career.

Cobb came to the Detroit Tigers back in August, 1905. After 18 consecutive seasons he still wears the Detroit spangles. Johnson joined Washington two years later, or in August, 1907. He is now starting out on his seventeenth straight campaign.

Year after year this sterling pair have borne the brunt of the work for their respective teams. Cobb with the stick and Johnson on the

TEXAS COLLEGIAN NOW WITH CARDINALS IS "ALL-AROUND" PHENOM OF MAJOR LEAGUES

EDWIN DYER

The allround athlete is the one who wins numerous letters.

And serving as baseball coach for the University of Michigan Branch Rickey always had his eyes open for the "all-round athlete."

Through his experience with the Michigan Wolverines, Rickey developed a fondness for the "all-round athlete."

When he heard that Edwin Hawley Dyer could cover 100 yards in close to 10 seconds, place a drop kick between the posts from the 50-yard line on the gridiron, stop the rushes of the forwards on the basketball court, twist a fooling fadeaway with the left arm and sock opposing pitchers for the Rice Institute, he was on his way to Houston, Tex., to scout this latest athletic star in the Lone Star state.

As manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, naturally Rickey did not care much about Dyer as a sprinter, a gridiron star or a basketball hero.

Saw Him Whiff 17
He saw Dyer strike out 17 batters in one game and win it with a home run over right field fence. That was enough for Rickey.

Each has reached the pinnacle of fame; in fact, neither Ty Cobb nor Walter Johnson had to take a back seat from any of them since coming into the main canopy.

Cobb has topped the hitters in some 12 out of 13 seasons. At one time he turned the trick nine years in a row. He has been on three pennant-winning teams, though never on a world series winner. Johnson has yet to have his name listed in the box scores, being one of the few major league stars sans such an honor.

In the National League Max Carey, Pittsburgh, and Zach Wheat, Brooklyn, claim the same honor that goes to Cobb and Johnson. Neither, however, has been up as long as Ty or Walter. Alexander has been on two outfits, as has also his teammate, Killefer.

WAS SECOND TWICE
Cyril Walker, new open golf champion, is hardly a novice at the game. The records show that he finished second in the last two North and South championships, in which were entered the best players in the land.

HELEN WILLS READY TO OPPOSE LENGLEN

California Girl at Top of Game; French Champion
To Watch Her Play

By HENRY L. FARRELL

United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, June 17.—Her modest blush hid behind sunburns, Helen Wills, American tennis champion, was fit and ready for the fight of her life today as she and her companions on the American team got in some final practice licks for the Wightman cup matches which start at Wimbledon tomorrow.

The entire American team, which includes Molla Mallory, Miss Eleanor Goss, Mrs. Wightman and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, is in the finest physical condition, although our women were hampered by poor weather recently from getting in all the training they would have liked.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen is due to arrive tomorrow to take a look at Miss Wills play in the Wightman cup matches. The French girl is scheduled to play several exhibition matches but has not yet promised to defend her singles title at Wimbledon.

Lenglen will play in the doubles but not in the singles, it is believed, unless she feels she can defeat Miss Wills.

THIRD VICTORY GIVES LOCALS ANOTHER CUP

Four S. A. Racket Swingers
Go Through Last Match
Without Defeat

The William Bielefeldt cup, offered in 1923 to the team that won the Orange county tennis championship three consecutive years, today was tucked away in the Santa Ana high school trophy case as the permanent possession of the local institution.

Poly's 1924 racket squadron, composed of four girl and four boy players, brought the handsome cup here yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the annual county net tournament at Fullerton in which the locals won all contests for boys and all but first and second singles and first doubles for girls.

Despite the comparatively easy Santa Ana triumph, the greatest upset of the tourney occurred when both the Misses "Billy" Crocort and Thelma Patton, first and second ranking Poly girl players, respectively, went down to defeat in both singles and doubles competition.

Miss Jean McGill of Fullerton downed Miss Crocort, 1923 Southern California Interscholastic champion and 1924 runner-up for the same honor. Miss Dorothy Bielefeldt of Fullerton, daughter of the donor of the cup, defeated Miss Patton. Both matches were close and bitterly contested.

Both the Misses Josephine and Constance Crookshank annexed points for the locals by capturing their singles and doubles tilts and none of the Poly men entrants, Keith Beisel, Raymond Smith, George Preble and Jack Warner, were defeated.

Eugene Criqui, defeated French featherweight, said this after his recent downfall: "I have no excuses, no broken hands, no broken heart."

16	8	12
5	7	11
24	24	24

Here are nine squares, each containing a fraction. There are eight rows of three squares; three across, three up and down, and two diagonal. Rearrange the squares so that when the three squares of each row are added together, each of the eight rows will make the same total. Example: the top row, 1, 2, 3, and 1-4 is 6-12, 4-12, and 3-12, making a total of 13-12, or 26-24. The bottom row, however, is only 23-24, and the other rows produce various totals. The squares must be changed so each row produces the same number of twenty-fourths.

REVEAL COUNTY WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT PLANS

the association pledged support to the "preventorium" and appointed a committee to handle the matter.
Approved by Clubs.
Endorsement was also given recently at Placentia by the county federation of women's clubs. A committee was named, with Mrs. C. C. Violet of Garden Grove, as chairman, to further the movement.
The Orange county conference of social welfare workers at recent gathering, authorized appointment of a similar committee, under Dr. Leland Mitchell, county health officer.
All who are interested in the "preventorium" plan are invited. Mrs. Meagher announced, to a meeting of the Orange County Tuberculosis association, to be held next Monday night at the office of Dr. J. L. Wahly, 620 North Main street, Santa Ana.
The "preventorium," Mrs. Meagher said, was born of the theory that a "stitch in time saves nine," or "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

EVENING SALUTATION

Oh, sweet the dropping eve, the blush of morn,
The starlit sky, the rustling fields of corn,
The soft air blowing from the freshening seas,
The sun-flecked shadow of the stately trees,
The mellow thunder and the lulling rain,
The warm, delicious, happy summer rain,
When the grass brightens and the days grow long,
And little birds break out in rippling song!

AN OCCASION FOR PRIDE

This week is Commencement Week in Santa Ana, and, viewing our schools and our school children, the occasion is one for pride and congratulations.

It is an honor and an achievement for any student to graduate from our junior high school, from our high school and from our junior college, for each of those institutions maintains high standards of scholarship and high standards of student citizenship.

Comparison of our junior college and our high school is made with colleges and high schools of the state. This comparison is made by state school authorities, charged with the duty of inspection of schools. It is a matter of congratulation that our schools have been given a very high rating by the representatives of the state.

It is an honor and a privilege for any boy or girl to graduate from our educational institutions, for graduation represents intelligence and work. Graduation represents a training for good citizenship. It represents a growth of character and a growth of ability to take care of one's self.

And mid the festivities of the week, parents should give serious thought to the advice frequently given to children by educators and others. That advice is, "Keep on with your school work." As a matter of experience, in Santa Ana, few graduates from the ninth grade end their school work there. Most junior college students in Santa Ana go on to high school. It is the natural and expected thing to do. And with the high place that our junior college has attained in the educational system of the state, holding rank as it does with two years of work at the University of California, there is less reason now than ever before for a high school graduate to end his school career with his high school commencement.

The job of keeping America out of foreign entanglements might be done if he could keep foreign entanglements out of America.—Columbia Record.

LOWER MOTOR DEATH RATE

With the actual number of fatalities from automobile accidents increasing month by month, it is encouraging to learn that the percentage is decreasing.

In 1907, when there were only 142,000 cars in the United States, there were 598 deaths from automobile accidents. In 1923 there were 16,700 such deaths—an appalling number. But there were also 15,000,000 motor vehicles of various types in the country. That is, the number of automobiles increased 105 times while the accident toll mounted to only 27 times its earlier rate. The danger attached to every individual car has therefore decreased something like 75 per cent.

All present indications are that motor cars will continue to increase in number. Modern cars are faster moving; present-day streets are more congested. Nevertheless, it should be possible to keep the fatality percentage on the decline. The very danger of the tremendous number of cars and the crowding of thoroughfares will emphasize more and more the need of caution. Wiser traffic laws, stricter enforcement of them, sterner punishment for infringement, thorough education of school children in safety rules and practice will do much to effect a lower automobile death rate.

Occasionally when everything is going smoothly with a man or woman for a long time, things seem to grow monotonous, so they go out and hunt trouble. And the quest is seldom in vain.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

SLOW GLOBE-TROTTING

The American army fliers are now in China, and have covered one-third of their distance around the world. That has taken them two months.

There is a prevalent notion that they have been delayed unduly, but a study of the complete plans shows that they are about up to their schedule. It was expected that their circumnavigation of the world would take six months. That estimate allows ample time for repair work and bad weather as well as the actual flying.

Circling the earth in six months is hardly more than crawling, judged by modern transportation standards. It means scarcely 140 miles a day. Any steamship could do better than that. It is more like freight train speed than the speed we are accustomed to associating with airplanes.

The purpose, however, was not speed. It was the blazing of an air trail around the earth. The army has been conducting this enterprise not as a sport but as a piece of engineering. The record of the Frenchman, Capt. D'Oisy, who flew from Paris to Tokio, 10,000 miles, in 26 days, without any systematic arrangements for fueling and repairs on the way, was a notable sporting event. The American flight will be of more substantial benefit to future aviation.

The fruits of victory are plums.—Columbus Record.

THE FRENCH UPSET

France is always having a crisis of some kind, and Americans are inclined to think that another one doesn't matter much. But the crisis just now is real. Not content with forcing Premier Poincare to resign, the insurgents in the French Parliament have forced President Millerand to resign. Nothing of the kind ever happened before.

This is very much as if our own Congress, being at odds with the Executive, should compel the President to resign before the expiration of his term. Or it is as if the British Parliament, angered by the interference of the Crown in legislation, should compel the King to abdicate. The French President partakes of the qualities of both the American President and the British King. He is elected for a term of years, but he is regarded, like the ruler of a constitutional monarchy, as superior to parties and a bridge between changing administrations.

It was contrary to the spirit, at least, of the French Constitution to demand President Millerand's resignation. But his critics insist that he had made such action necessary by disobeying the Constitution and meddling with party politics.

Millerand's offense was playing party politics and upholding Poincare's policies. The liberals, having got rid of the premier, found they could make no progress without also getting rid of the President, because when Millerand appointed a new premier to frame a new cabinet he chose a man of the Poincare type.

All this comes home to Americans. It seems to mean that the swashbuckling, militaristic Poincare party is repudiated for good, that France is tired of costly armament and jingo oratory and eternal feud with Germany, and is determined under the leadership of Edouard Herriot, a liberal, to make an honest effort at reparation settlement and restoration of France and Germany side by side, and of Europe with them. The world has waited long for such action.

Hiram will have to admit that Cal is first in California.—Boston Globe.

"Ins" Against the "Outs"

Fresno Republican

The battle between the "Ins" and the "Outs" is of no value to the people of the United States. We are employed, year after year, to be concerned with the poor "Ins" who are threatened with losing their jobs and the poor "Outs" who would be so much better off if they had these jobs.

But why should we care? All we are interested in is whether one man or one set of men will do the things we want done better than another.

Think of how many times we have thought that just making a "change" would better us! And how often we have been fooled!

Change in itself is no benefit, in management. The only place that change is of value is in amusement. Those who think of politics and of government as a passing show like change.

But those who demand that government shall be of constructive value think of change only as one of two means to an end. The alternative that of avoiding change, is more often the valuable course in politics.

So, while we are weighing political alternatives this year, let's refuse to listen to the man who just wants change in the plea that the man who is in office will do better than the man who is in office.

We want proof, either way. And the record of what has happened is a valuable part of the evidence on which we will decide.

Dwelling Together In Amity

Stockton Independent

The Fremont Park Presbyterian church of Sacramento was destroyed by fire last fall. Pending completion of a new edifice the church has been holding its services in Temple B'nai Israel through courtesy of the Jewish congregation. Now Bishop P. J. Keane of the Roman Catholic church has turned over a parochial school building to the Presbyterians for their summer Bible school.

In commenting on this happy but anomalous situation, Rev. McAuley of the Presbyterian church said: "The fact that we are now worshipping in a Jewish synagogue and the school will be held in Catholic church property is an indication of the belief of Sacramento church workers, regardless of individual creed, of the good being accomplished by the religious bodies of the city."

This is as it should be. It represents the true spirit of the Nazarene, whom all claim. There is no reason why churches, creeds, denominations, pointing to different roads to the same goal, shouldn't dwell together in amity and helpfulness. This involves no compromise of conviction. If there must be odium theologium let it be confined to abstractions. The Sacramento incident will do more for real religion than all the theological wrangling that ever set the poor old world by the ears—and got no place.

Hail to the Air Mail

San Francisco Chronicle

With the first of next month there will begin the regular daily air mail service between this city and New York. A letter or package mailed here in the morning will be delivered in New York the next afternoon. The time schedule is made out, the postal charges fixed, the lights installed for night service, and the machines doubtless made ready and the men designated.

It does not seem to be expected that the receipts will fully pay expenses. In time, doubtless, they will be made to do so, for there is no reason why the highly valuable service given should not be paid for by those who use it. But it takes time to acquire the habit.

The service is essential if there were not a dollar of receipts. We must know the strain on men and machines in regular daily use over a long period. We must also develop the necessary force of trained men.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

FUNCTIONAL AND ORGANIC

You find yourself more interested in your body, in your health, than you were formerly.

Without thinking very much about it, you take notice of what you eat in the twenty-four hours. You figure that meat once a day is enough for you, considering that your work is not heavy, and there is not much repair to the body necessary.

You find yourself eating some fruit, some rough vegetables, and a green vegetable such as lettuce or celery almost daily.

Also you watch the intestine, knowing the importance of the removal of wastes from the body. Lately, and particularly since the war, you have been hearing the words "functional" and "organic."

Perhaps you have been to your physician because your heart seemed to be beating more rapidly than usual. Your physician says, "Oh, there's no 'organic' trouble, just a 'functional' disturbance. Possibly it is your stomach and after repeated questions, or even tests he makes the same remark. Then you say, 'Well, that may be so doctor, but I've got this fluttering heart, and it disturbs me just as much as if it were 'organic,' whatever that means.' Or you may say, 'This pain in my stomach is the real thing, irrespective of what name you give it.'

Now what does your doctor mean? Well, if you get very much excited at times, the heart will beat rapidly, or if you get considerable gas in the stomach, it will press up against the heart, impeding its movement, and making it beat rapidly. You see, both these conditions cause a disturbance in the beating of the heart, and yet the heart itself is perfectly sound. Its "function" or "organism" has been disturbed by an outside or other influence.

Similarly with the stomach—you may be eating something that disagrees with you, such as eggs, onions, or other food. It disturbs the function or action of the stomach for some time afterwards. Perhaps your nerves are upset, and they affect the stomach so that its muscular walls can't work properly, nor its lining secrete the stomach juice in the right manner. Food lies too long there, and fermentation causes pain. That is not like cancer or ulcer because they are due to processes in the walls of the stomach itself.

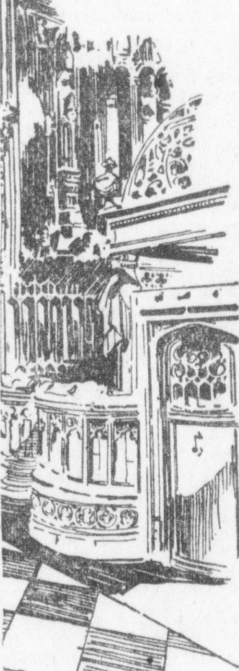

These are organic disturbances, just as a leaking valve of the heart would be called organic heart disease. So then a functional trouble is where something is interfering with the action of an organ, but the organ itself is all right. Organic trouble is where the organ itself has something wrong with its structure.

A Verbatim Report

FOR THOSE WHO DO NOT HAVE TIME TO READ THE NEWS-PAPERS WE HAVE SUMMED UP THE RESULT OF THE SPEECHES DELIVERED AT THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND

ON THE TOMBS IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY—

Mortality, behold and fear
What a change of flesh is here!
Think how many royal bones
Sleep within these heaps of stones!
Here they lie, had realms and lands,
Who now want strength to stir their hands,
Where from their pulpits seal'd with dust
They preach, "In greatness is no trust."
Here's an acre sown indeed
With the richest, royal seed
That the earth did e'er suck in
Since the first man died for sin;
Here the bones of birth have cried,
"Though gods they were, as men they died!"
Here are sands, ignoble things,
Dropt from the ruin'd sides of kings;
Here's a world of pomp and state
Buried in dust, once dead by fate.
—Francis Beaumont.

Joys of Camping

San Francisco Chronicle

The idea of camping out calls up pictures before the imagination. If one be a disciple of Isaac Walton, the picture is that of a cool stream amid the mountains and forests, with fish leaping from deep, dark pools, and it must be confessed, with swarms of midges enveloping the lone fisherman. But these pestiferous tormentors and the tangle of bush in miry places are not the things that bulk large or dwell in one's remembrance. The lure of cooing or cooing, the wailing trout, the secret trails followed, the steep ascended, the glorious views won, the unknown stream explored—these are among the joys that abide for months when the camper has returned to his office and the routine of daily work.

The less like features of camping out fall into their rightful place as hurdles or handicaps to be overcome in reaching the goal. They are factors in giving the camper a real education. Teachers have found that the summer camp, which in the last twenty years has become a feature in the cultural life of our people, constitutes a constructive contribution toward educating the people.

The movement has advanced very fast. The advertising pages of the periodicals present part of the evidence. They are crowded with advertisements of hundreds of summer camps scattered all over the United States. They are not confined to the Atlantic coast and the interior. They abound in the South and the West. They are of every imaginable variety. They appeal to all ages, all classes, all conditions. They draw out the latent capacities of hosts of American youth to live socially and to work with sustained effort for a definite object. The simple and wholesome life in the open builds the body and develops the personality. The boys and girls that pit their resources against the demands of outdoor life gain mastery of self, reserves of power and strong nerves. These complement the service of the regular school to create the sort of men and women that can deal effectively with the duties of citizenship.

The summer camp is not free from the possibility of producing objectionable results. Not all directors of summer camps are actuated by idealistic motives. The influence of commercialism has entered the new industry. Many persons organize and conduct camps chiefly to make money. But genuine education and money-making seldom trot together in double harness. Consequently, an organization of directors of boys' camps and another of those of girls' camps were formed to maintain the standards and ideals of education. The two organizations of directors have now united to strengthen intelligent control of all branches of the activities of the camps.

Worth While Verse

IN GOD'S PLACES

Come, walk the windy heights with me
And feel the furious gusts that blow
Across your brow, and watch below
The mighty trees that bend and bow
To their all-conquering Deity.

Come, walk with me in forests deep,
Where all is still save for the cry
Of some wild bird flung out on high,
Or murmuring wind whose lullaby
Sings the submissive trees to sleep.

IN THE LONG AGO

14 Years Ago Today From the Register Files

June 17, 1910

A drug store, a tavern and a fisherman's house were raided at Newport Beach and, officers claimed, liquor was found at all three places. Four men and a woman were arrested, all pleading guilty and paying fines totalling $450.

In a game played at Redondo, Santa Ana's baseball team was defeated 8 to 2.

Pupils of the Andrist Academy of Music gave a recital. Among those who participated were the Misses Myrtle Cartwright, Mildred Campbell, Mildred Curtiss, Anam Chumel, Katherine Schultz and Myrtle Law and Elwell Squires, Kenneth Horton, Carl Stevens, Willard Cain, Matthew Chumel and Otto Thorman.

Every public school in Orange county with the exception of the grammar schools at Olinia, Orangehorpe, Newhope and Serra closed Friday for the summer's vacation.

Dr. M. A. Menges and D. H. Thomas, owners of the building at the corner of Fifth and Main streets, announced plans that they would convert this building, formerly occupied by the Main Department store into a arcade providing between nine and twelve stores.

No Cause For Alarm

Riverside Press

Heads that are more or less wise are being shaken in prophetic alarm over the result of a questionnaire sent to the girls of high schools in Orange county on the subject of their aspirations and intentions after graduation. Of the whole number of replies received only 68 said they intended to marry and operate a home. In contrast with this 981 said they desired to become school teachers and 405 to be stenographers. The remainder scattered over a great variety of activities.

What is to become of the American home and the American people, ask those who are alarmed at this small showing of domestic inclination and large showing of business intention? This alarm may be allayed by the certainty that the maternal instinct of woman has not been lost and will assert itself in due season as it always has done. In the past women have been forced into matrimony as the only open door from a life of loneliness or dependence, and the results have not been entirely happy ones. She has now many ways to be independent and need not unwillingly grace any man's home as a dependent, a mere housekeeper and childbearer. This same question asked a like number of girls would have received a different answer, because conditions were different 25 years ago, but even then girls were wont to declare that they did not intend to marry, though with rare exceptions they all did, and with equally rare exceptions they will still continue to do so. That so many are prompted to use their education in the training of the young should be a matter of congratulation instead of regret. As for both the teaching profession and the business office, there is no record that they close the door to matrimony. Nature has her own way everywhere.

But upon what theory do we predicate disaster from a condition in which a considerable number of women prefer independent spinsterhood to dependent wifehood? Has not the world been blessed by women who have chosen careers of usefulness outside the family circle, and are not educated women to be a blessing in any active career they may adopt, even if it be but to keep the atmosphere of offices and counting rooms pure? How much has already been accomplished in that direction can be appreciated only by those who remember what was the language and the nature of such places before women invaded them. And is it a fear that the birth rate will decline which prompts gloomy forecasts? Already our economists are studying the problem of overpopulation which is facing the world. Except for soldiers, for cannon fodder, we would be better off with a much slower increase in population of the present day. The urge of economic necessity drives them into labor and the expense of their mental training, even their moral training, far too early in life. Surely a smaller and better educated and character trained youth would mean more to this country than the overeducated and any other country than overeducated men and women. Are we always to let the shadow of war determine this matter of birth rate?

Census Tells

Every ten years our government spends millions of dollars to take a census of the people and what they are doing. It is a costly undertaking, but it is worth much more than it costs.

Important conclusions are gleaned from the figures gathered, because the data is accurate and scientific. These facts become a basis for remedial legislation and for various movements for the uplift of the nation and the race.

Seven-eighths of all the money left by married men in America for their dependents is derived from life insurance.

Eighty-two per cent of the value of the combustible property is insured against fire, but only—

Seven per cent of the economic value of human life is covered by insurance.

Ninety per cent of the men engaged in active business fail to reach old age with a competence.

Nineteen out of every twenty persons fail to provide for their old age or for their families.

With the result that—

Eight million women are forced to earn a living.

Thirty-five per cent of the widows are in want. Ninety per cent of American widows lack life's common comforts.

Eighty-two per cent of the children of the country are forced to leave school before completing the eighth grade to aid in making a living for the family.—Electric Trade.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 7—A TRIP TO SCOTLAND

The next night when Johnny Jump Up came to dance on the Twins' window sill in the moonlight, they were waiting for him, all dressed and ready to go.

All except the little shoes which Johnny carried in his pocket.

"Are we going on a journey to-night?" cried Nick.

"We are if the moon doesn't blow up," answered Johnny Jump Up, making a funny face. "But the moon man sent me word that he thinks it's not likely to blow up because it's made of ice mostly."

"Then we're going," said Nancy happily, running up to the little fairman and taking the tiny shoes he held out.

Just as before, as soon as they touched the shoes, they became as little as gumdrops.

"Follow me," commanded Johnny Jump Up next. So all three climbed out of the window and down the rose vine into the magic garden.

Johnny Jump Up did a string of somersaults across the rose beds, not touching a flower, but when he reached a patch of blue-bells, he stopped.

"Tingalingaling," went one big blue-bell when he shook it. "Hoot mon, who's there," cried a tiny little fellow, popping his head out.

"It's Sandy. I mean it's us," said Johnny Jump Up quickly. (Johnny never had gone to school and his grammar was awful).

"Sandy, this is Nancy and Nick, Nancy and Nick, this is Sandy, the Scotch fairy, who lives in the blue-bells."

"Good evening," said the Twins politely.

"Tud een, bonnie bairns," said Sandy, tipping his funny cap. Indeed, all his clothes were different from any the children had ever seen.

"I have brought the tickets," he said. "If you are going to Scotland tonight, you had better be starting."

"So we had. Where's that titmouse?" asked Johnny. "He's our express train and oceanboat and airplane all rolled into one. Titmouse, oh, titmouse, where are you?"

"Here I am," said Tommy Titmouse, flying down from a tree. "Where are your tickets?"

"All except the little shoes which Johnny carried in his pocket."

"Then we're going," said Nancy happily, running up to the little fairman and taking the tiny shoes he held out.

Just as before, as soon as they touched the shoes, they became as little as gumdrops.

"Follow me," commanded Johnny Jump Up next. So all three climbed out of the window and down the rose vine into the magic garden.

Johnny Jump Up did a string of somersaults across the rose beds, not touching a flower, but when he reached a patch of blue-bells, he stopped.

"Tingalingaling," went one big blue-bell when he shook it. "Hoot mon, who's there," cried a tiny little fellow, popping his head out.

"It's Sandy. I mean it's us," said Johnny Jump Up quickly. (Johnny never had gone to school and his grammar was awful).
